With flags and arms waving wildly, this group cheers the football team on to victory.

Faces reflecting the glow, students circle the bonfire at the opening football game.

Principal Wallace I. West addresses the student body at the Opening Day drifts closer as hands of the clock spin around unnoticed. Informal, unhurried, sundappled activity leaves no pause for watching the calendar. No one even wants to, until . . .

On Sophomore Orientation Day, new students acquaint themselves with school administrators, student body officers, and the school itself. Later in the week, all students find their homeroom numbers posted on the front windows of Brogden Hall.

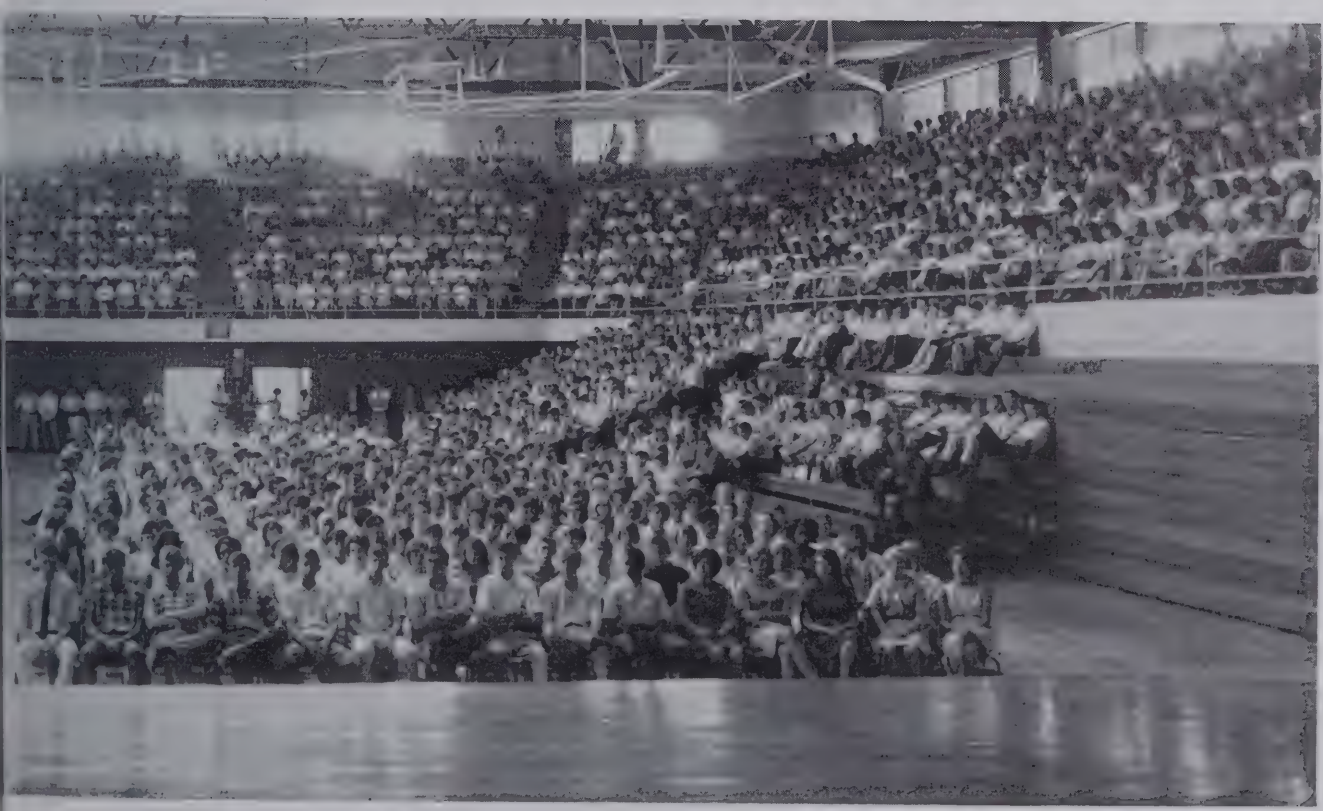

An end in a beginning, the opening day of school brings about change. There are questions, uncertainties, speeches, greetings; but—most of all—there are schedules. Life takes on a regular pattern once more as classes begin. New friends are made, old ones meet again, and the leaders take their places before their followers.

PSTA Open House is the occasion for the unusual amount of night activity as parents and teacher get acquainted.

opening day assembly.

Smiling regally, Homecoming Queen Carole Crossley—escorted by Calvin Davis—returns to her court after the coronation.

Susanne Burns, one of the ten semi-finalists, smiles at the crowds lining the Homecoming Parade route.

Homecoming elections drag interminably for thirty-three excited nominees. In spite of the voting machines which are a first at NHHS, the two days of voting seem to take forever.

Each girl pictures herself and her escort caught up in the whirlwind of Homecoming activity. Following the announcement of the ten semi-finalists at the Friday afternoon pep rally, there is the parade through downtown Wilmington. But the ultimate moment arrives at the ball game Friday night with the coronation of the queen and the announcement of the four members of her court during half-time ceremonies. On Saturday night the queen reigns over the Homecoming Dance with her court and the Varsity and Cheerleaders' Sweethearts.

For Miss Carole Crossley, Homecoming Queen for 1966, each of these moments is a precious memory to be cherished for a lifetime.

Secretary of Elections Don Bame finds the voting machine a fast easy way to make his choices in the Homecoming elections.

Team captains Hope Higgins and Linda Eaton prepare to start the Powderpuff Football Game as coaches Tommy Pollard and Ike Puzon and referee Johnny Mavros look on.

Student Projects, a vital and creative part of school life, come about through the work of various student organizations.

Where students find a need to be met around campus, they drum up support and get the job done. No matter what the nature of the project—car wash, bus trip, dance, or interclass challenges—students can be sure of the unlikely combination of hard work and plenty of fun.

Project-wise, 1967 has been an active year. The Student Parking-lot Clean-up is a proposal to clean the lot behind the Isaac Bear Building and to mark off parking places for school buses and teachers' and students' cars.

As in years past, chartered buses sponsored by NHHS service clubs take students to out-of-town ball games.

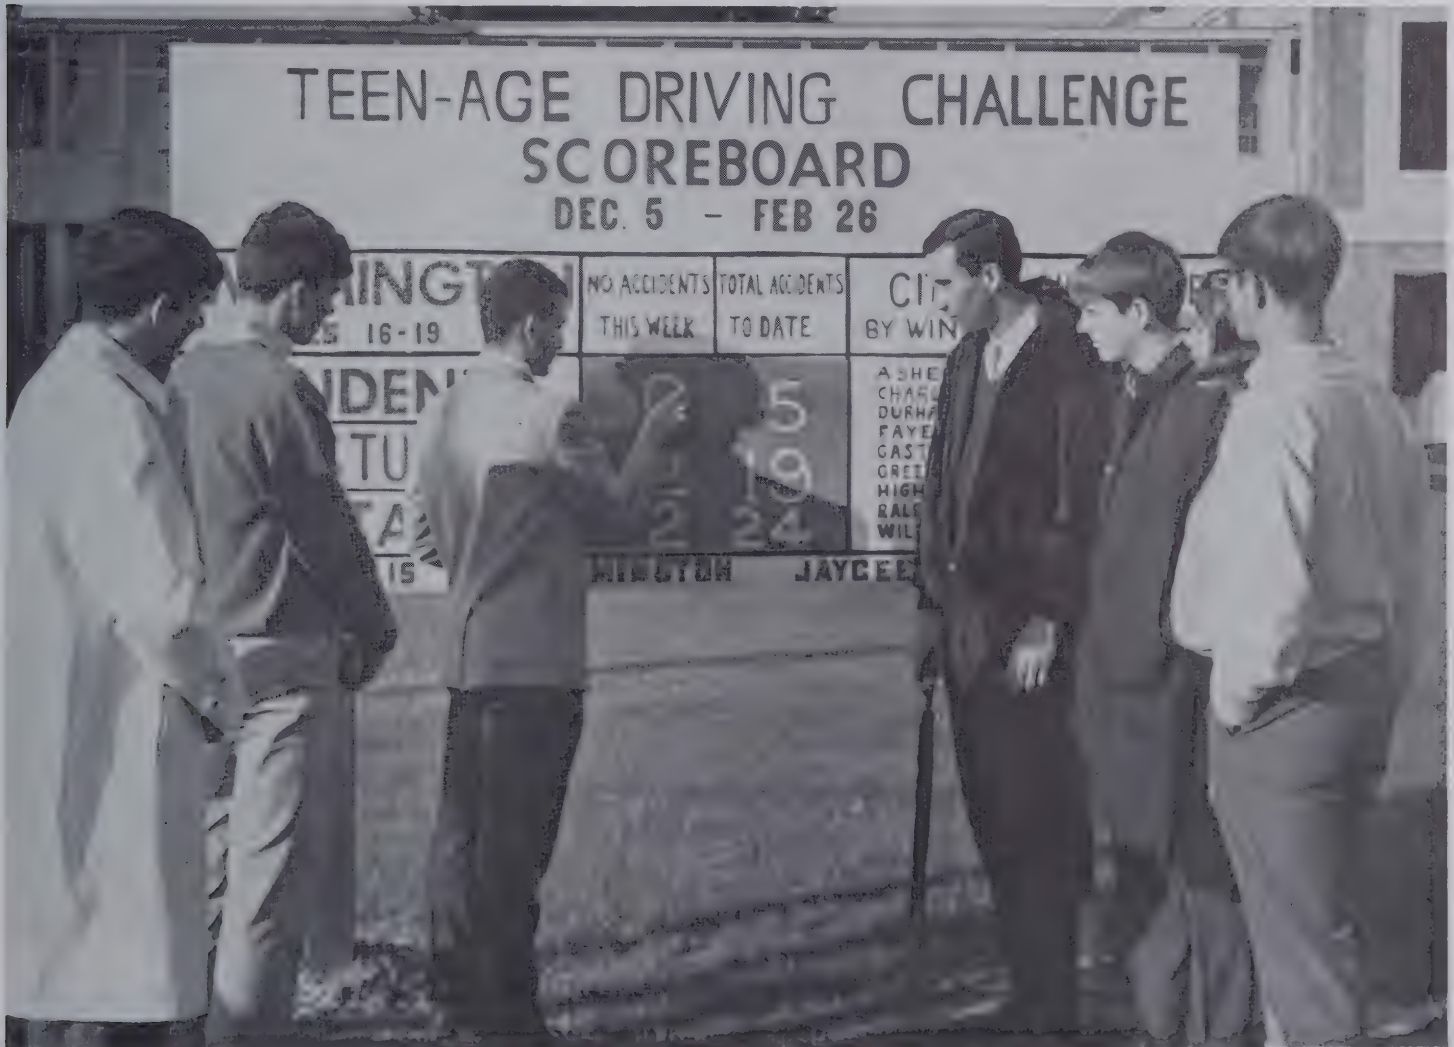

Jake Bron and Judy Thompson join the crowd of cheerleaders and fans boarding the bus for an out-of-town basketball game.

Three of the many students who helped with the parking-lot clean-up project are Jim Carter, Dickie Stinson, and Tommy Pollard.

A group of interested students watches as Johnny Mavros chalks up the lucky zero on the Teenage Safe-Diving Contest scoreboard.

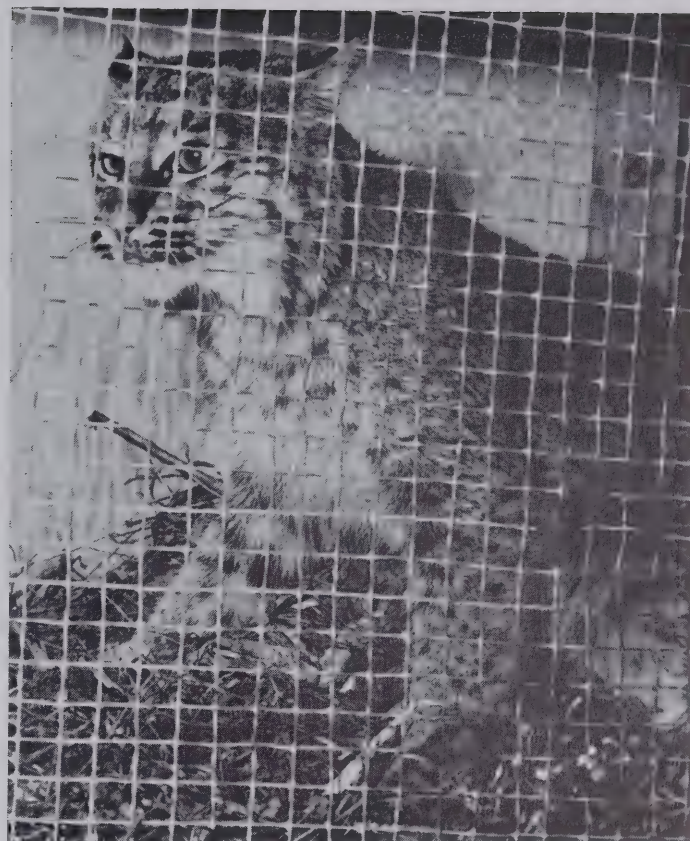

Exchange students Maria Christina Vicente, Henry Perez, Virginia Pereyra Ostanaza, and Theresa Arias Hainberger talk about their respective countries as they walk up the senior steps.

Willie, an honest-to-goodness wildcat, is New Hanover High's first live mascot. Presented to the school by the VICA club, he is a real boost to school spirit, and he rates his own military guard.

The Powderpuff Football Game, an example of an interclass challenge, is an attempt to bring the friendly rivalry between classes to a head on the athletic field. Another first, the boys lead the cheering as the girls do the fighting. Spanish-speaking exchange students visit each year in Wilmington and stay with families of NHHS students. Another group from Brazil, sponsored by one of the city's civic clubs, made the trip this year for a four-week's stay in the Port City.

Willie the Wildcat, the official NHHS mascot, seems to be thinking of the story behind his presentation to the student body.

Members of the football team, Homecoming court and escorts, and Varsity and Cheerleaders' Sweethearts enjoy a special number at the Football Finals Dance.

Phyllis Cherry and Delores Faircloth, school store assistants, make a sale to Martha Robinson.

Tom Turner signs up to house a member of the Ohio State University Men's Glee Club.

From bottom step to top, the 1967 May Court Attendants are Susanne Burns and Faye Shain, seniors; Beverly Jacobs and Linda Singleton, juniors; and Kim Helsabeck and Lori Scoggins, sophomores.

May Court 1967 naturally reflects a combination of old-style charm and today's lively good looks. From the demure, dainty miss of yesterday has evolved 1967's ideal—streamlined and up to the pace of the times.

Miss Carole Crossley, May Queen, is just such a young modern—active, friendly and up-to-the-minute. She and the Maid of Honor, Marilyn Gooden, typify the current ideas of well-rounded personalities. Two attendants from each class round out the May Court, which is honored at the annual May Dance.

Queen Carole Crossley and Maid of Honor Marilyn Gooden look quite at home in the lobby of a contemporary office building.

Spring semester provides a reawakening of activity and a rapid change of outlook around NHHS. Even the conversation sounds refreshed as the shout of "Surf's up!" echoes more often around campus. Warm-weather sports come out in the open, colors brighten up, and thoughts turn once again to the beaches.

Many of the spring events around Wilmington directly affect the activities of students. Even the faculty is livelier as the end of the school year draws closer.

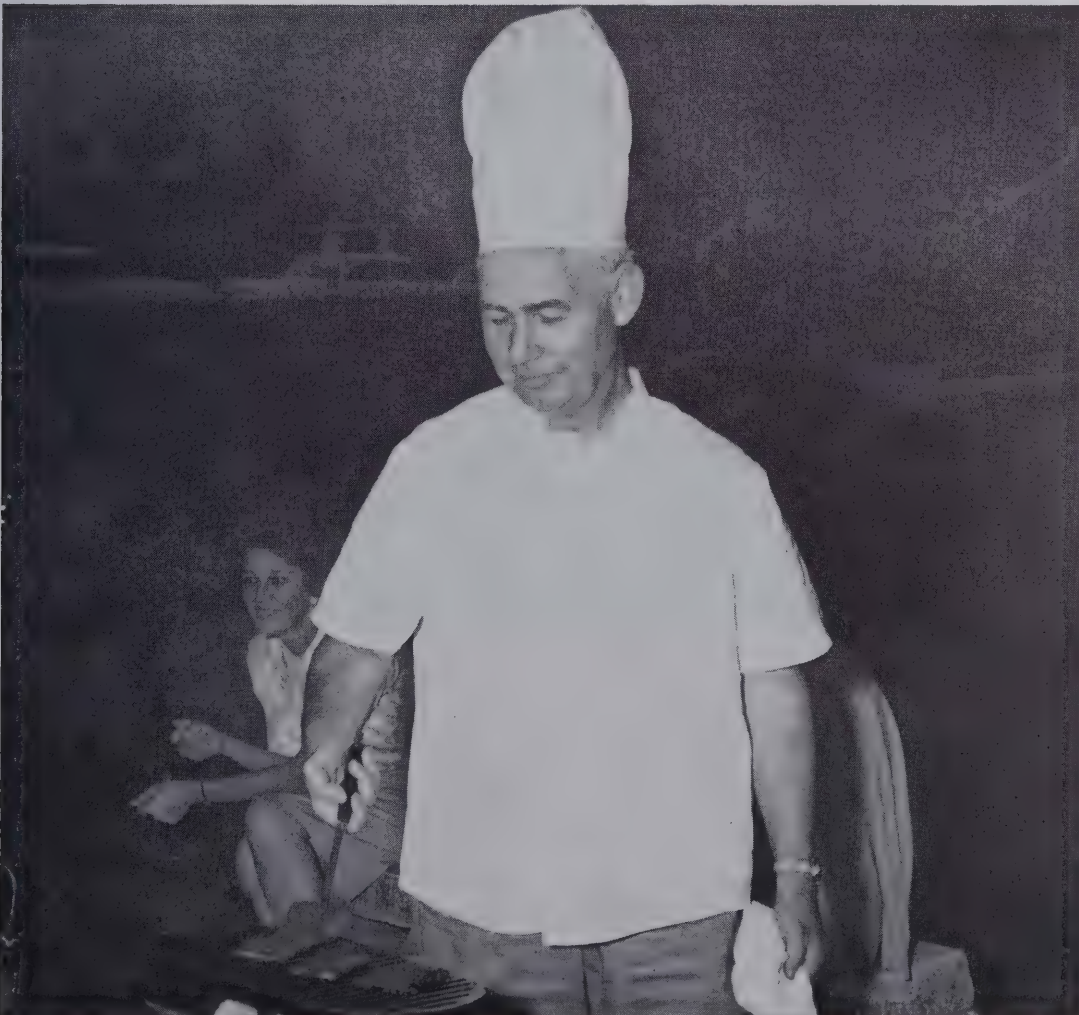

A bit of history in the heart of the school campus, the watering trough on Market Street provides a pleasant place for Debbie Carter and Claudia Wheelis to talk on a spring day.

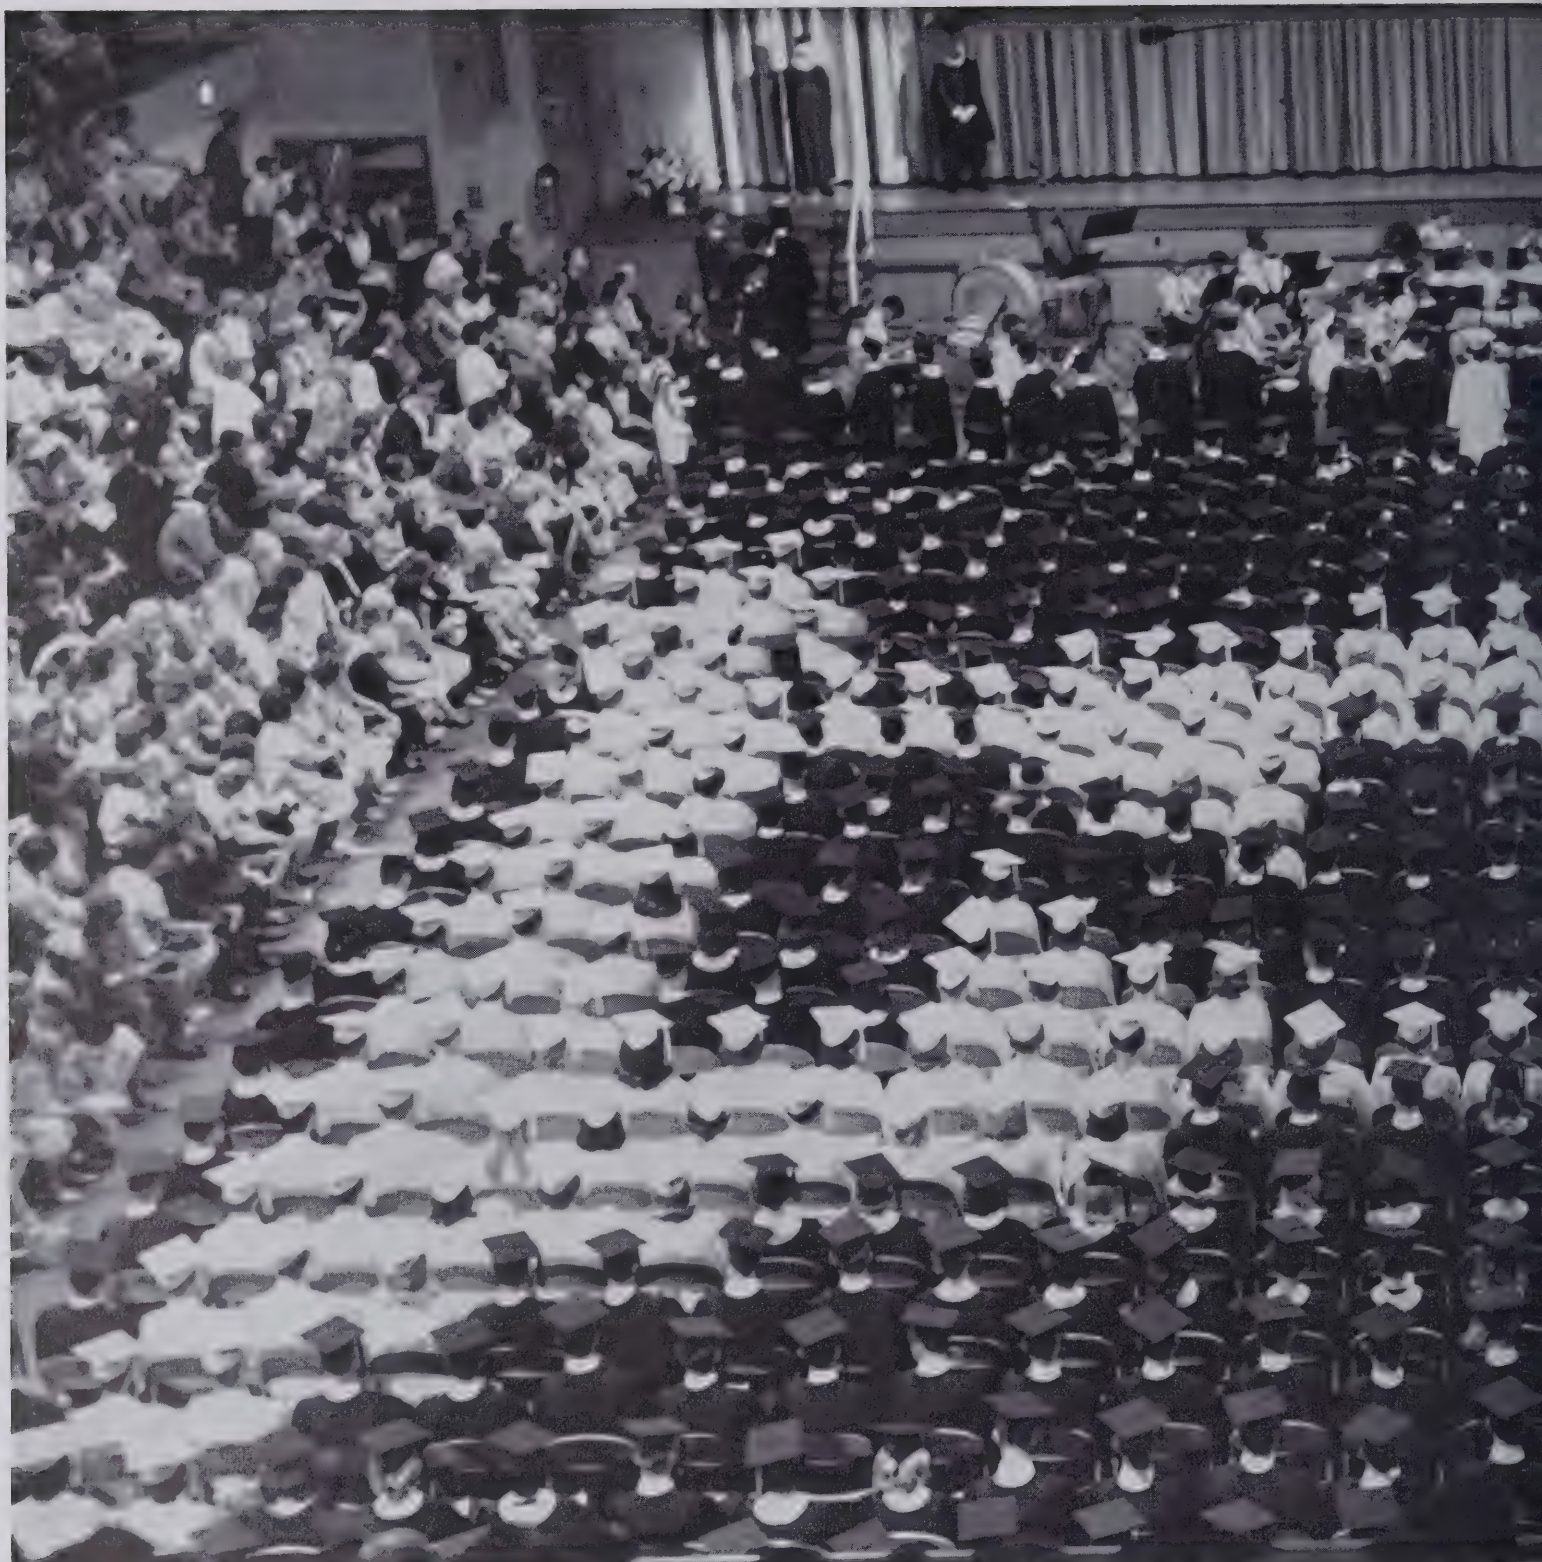

Ready for a warm-up and practice session, the tennis team listens to Coach Henderson's pointers.

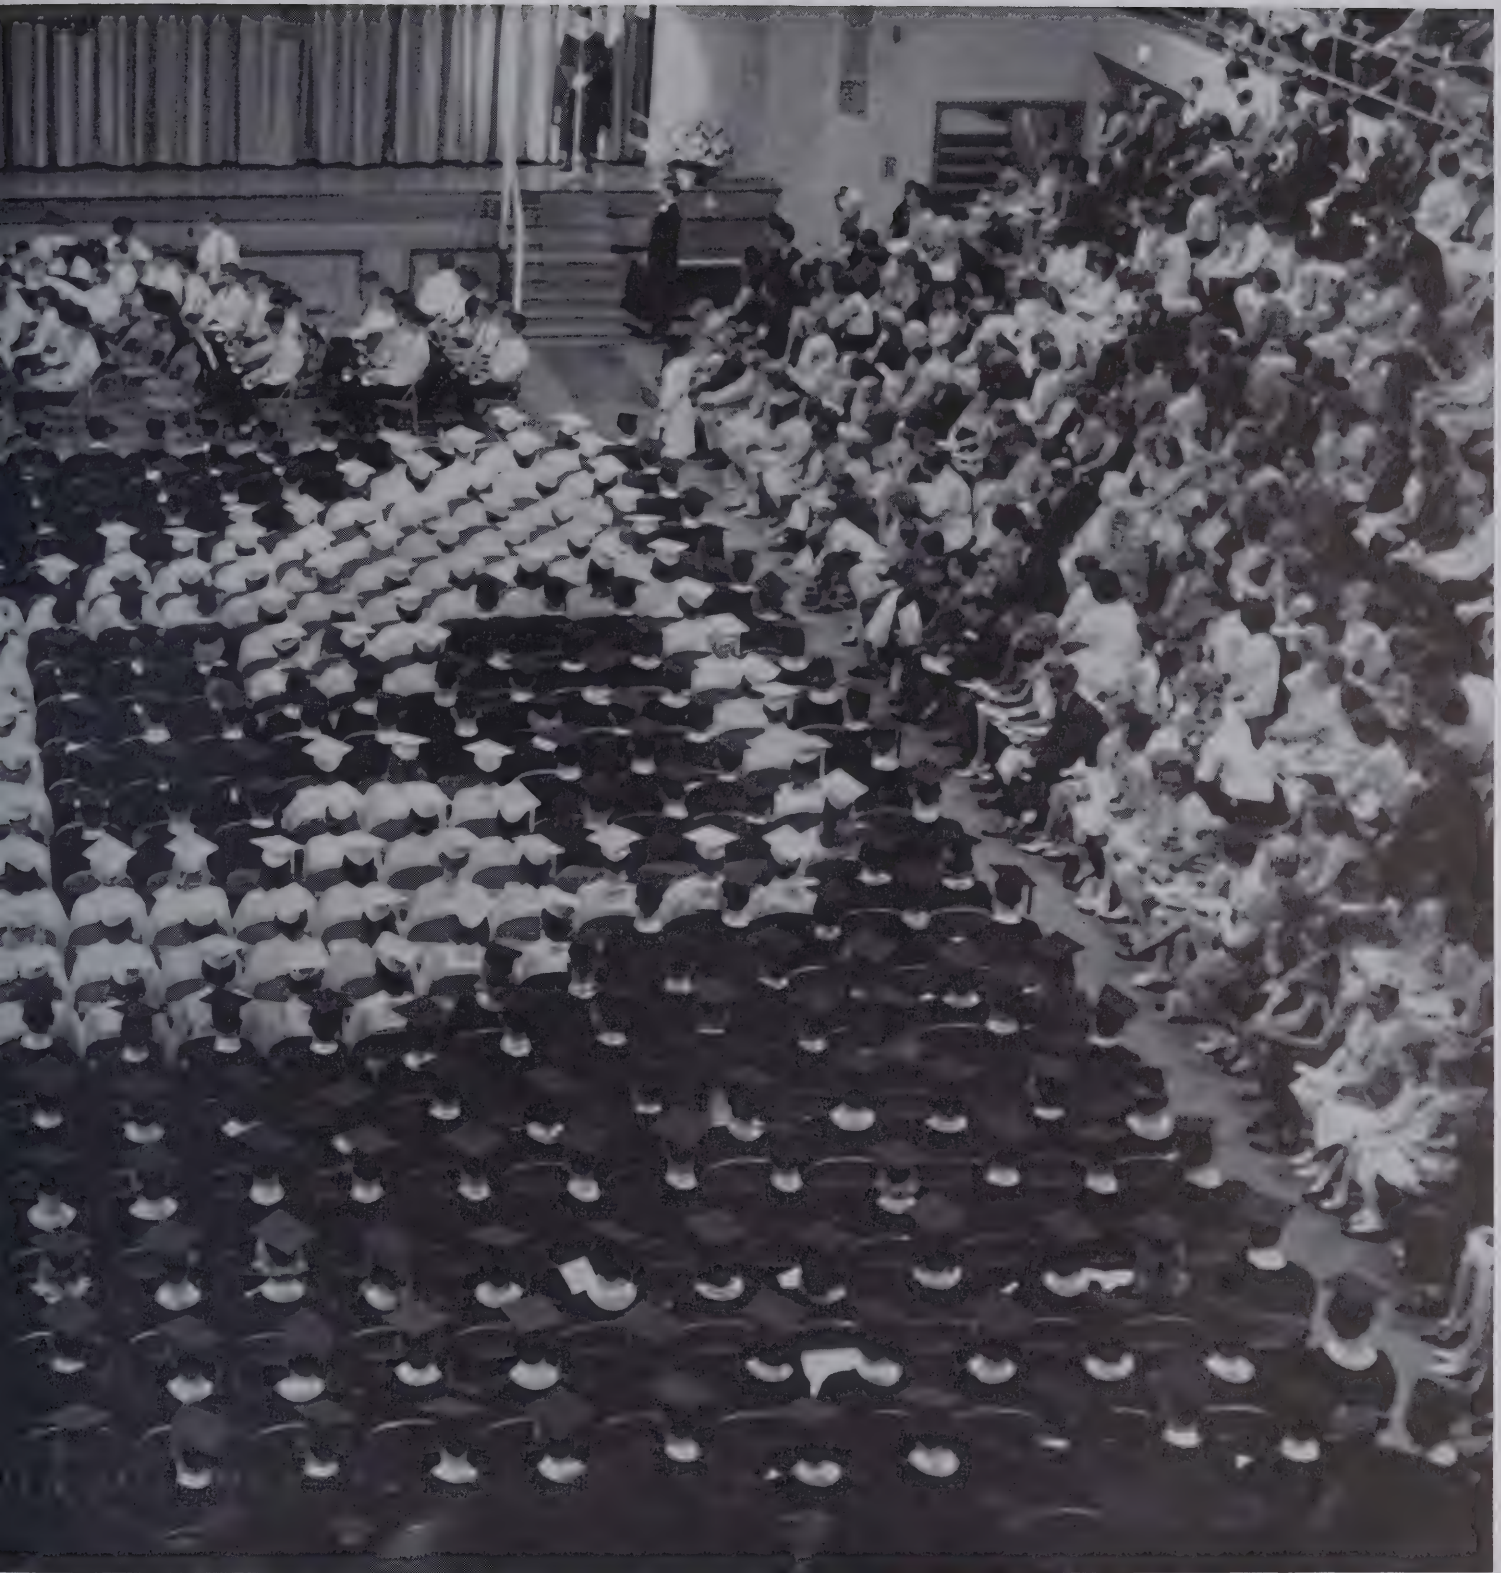

Mr. West "chefs" at the teachers' cookout celebrating the end of school.

Graduation remains throughout life one of the rare moments which is never forgotten, moments which flash into our consciousness at the least beckoning. A tearful smile, a final alma mater, and high school is behind us; but graduation is never really over. Every step forward in life is itself a graduation, and a measure of a man's success is the sum of these.

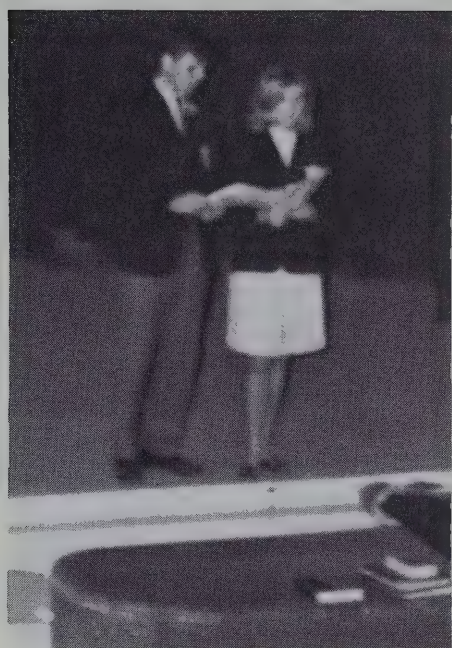

For millions of high school seniors in America, the month of June will bring one of the most important forward steps of life. NHHS will graduate about seven hundred of these young men and women, sending them out into a world of service and training. In various fields and vocations, they will have opportunities for further advancements and other graduations.

Student Government officers for 1966-1967: Marilyn Gooden, Secretary; John Mavros, President; Charles Brindell, Vice-President.

The Executive Department,

composed of cabinet members and Student Body officers, worked diligently to make the school year 1966-1967 one of which its alumni can be proud. With the help of interested class men, the department directed "the clean-up" of the Isaac Bear lot in preparation for future student and faculty parking spaces.

Highlighting Homecoming Week was a Powderpuff Football Game in which the boys cheered their favorite team—all girls—to victory. Answering students' recommendations and questions taken from the "Suggestion Box" in the Student Union was "The Voice". This Student Congress publication also contained the secretary's reports and a calendar of coming events.

The five delegates who attended Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, during the fall, returned with new ideas on organizing a more effective student government. Formed as a result of this meeting was an Inter-club Council, composed of club presidents and vice-presidents. Heralding Senior Day, a newcomer to New Hanover's social events, were a banquet, dance, and special assembly.

Cabinet members Ike Puzon, Susan Perten, and Dickie Stinson work at keeping the NHHS campus clean.

Hopeful candidates for Sophomore senators receive instructions from Mr. Neil Stout before taking the constitution test in October.

The House and Senate, duly recognized throughout the year, participated in various Student Congress activities. Several bus trips to out-of-town games, plus the Get-Together Dance and the Sportsmanship Dance, were among primary functions. Representatives from the House devoted their spare time to cleaning up the Isaac Bear parking lot. In addition, emphasizing the importance of a tidy school was a Campus Clean-Up Week slated for each semester.

During November neighboring schools—such as, Shallotte and Burgaw High, as well as New Hanover county junior highs, participated in the Leadership Workshop sponsored by the Student Congress. Speakers discussed leadership qualities and parliamentary procedure.

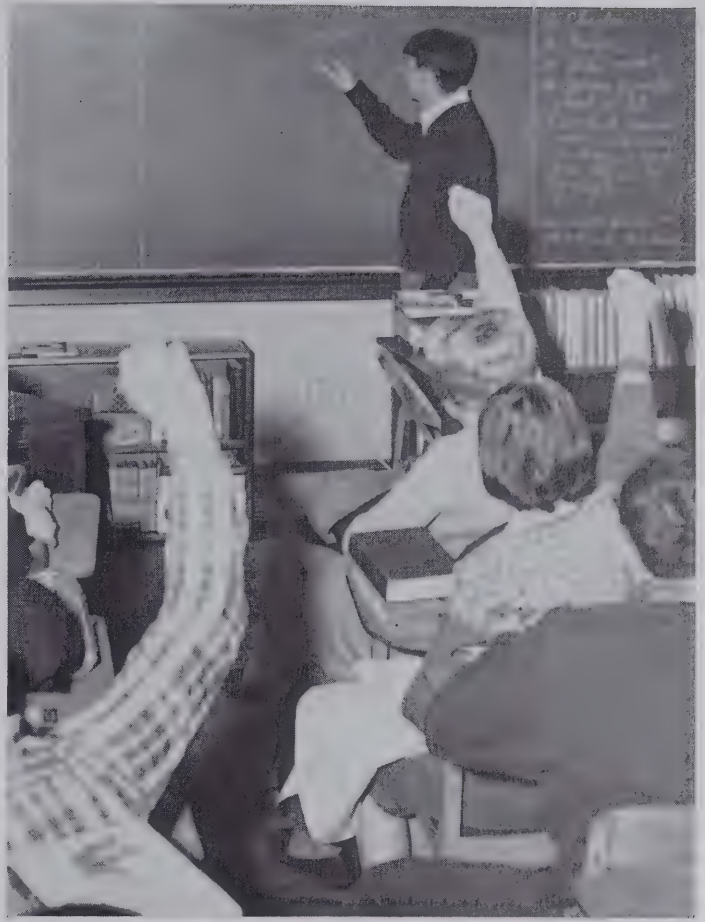

Both the House and the Senate organized committees to further worthwhile projects: the Isaac Bear Committee aided construction of student-faculty parking lot; the Safe-Driving Committee posted bulletins reminding students of the Safe-Driving Campaign; an Honor Council Committee worked to produce an effective honor code system; a student-faculty committee met to clarify disagreements over proper school dress; the Constitution Revision Committee amended misleading sections of the NHHS Constitution.

House members Sandy Garner, John Frye, Georgia Johnson, Marsha Weaver, and Charles Brindell prepare the Isaac Bear parking lot for use.

Debbie Bryan, reading the daily bulletin in her homeroom, reminds students to vote in the coming election.

Homeroom Chairmen worked as a group during the year to collect money for Thanksgiving and Christmas offerings in addition to the Red Cross Fund. Meeting early in the fall senior chairmen nominated six DAR candidates, from which seniors and faculty members selected one to represent New Hanover. With the assistance of other junior class officers, chairmen from this class coordinated plans for the Junior-Senior Prom held in the spring. "Sadie Hawkins and Dogpatch" was the theme of this year's Twirp Dance sponsored by the sophomore chairmen. Assisting homeroom teachers was the main duty of the group. Chairmen read the daily bulletin and checked homeroom attendance.

The Judicial Department relinquished its marshaling responsibilities this year to the ROTC department. Cadet Captain Ronnie Rivenbark, acting as Battalion provost marshal, issued the marshaling posts. Assuming the duty each month was one of the four companies. Serving as marshals entitled volunteers to one merit for each week served. Nomination and election of student judges took place in the fall at a joint assembly of the House and Senate. Three seniors—Larry Hemby, Michael Murchison, Hoppy Smithwick; two juniors—Howard Neuwirth, Kirk Brown; and one sophomore—Bill Mullinix—received the honors. These six then elected Larry Hemby, chief justice, and Bill Mullinix, clerk of court. Student court held its sessions every Thursday in room two of the ROTC building. Major infractions listed were violation of street-crossing procedures and improper use of the halls.

Marshal Keith Thompson catches Kim Huband as rain prompts him to cross the street against the light.

Social Marshals began their year by marshaling for a reunion of the class of 1941 last summer. During the fall they ushered for the first PSTA meeting, the Thespian play, Cheaper by the Dozen, and at the NCEA District Teachers' Meeting. In early October newly elected student government officials, as well as student and faculty members new to New Hanover, enjoyed the annual tea arranged by the Social Marshals. With farm life as the setting the hosts and hostesses, dressed in red-checked skirts and blue-denim overalls, served apple pie and cider to their guests.

The marshals also sponsored the Valentine Dance, which featured "The Embers", and the May Dance, featuring "The Count IV".

Other duties for the year included guiding helpless sophomores through the Industrial, Memorial, and Main buildings on Orientation Day; ushering for the Berm Dedication, and marshaling at the District Student Congress Leadership classes.

Fran Alexius and Cathy Bear keep the "calendar of events" in Mr. West's office up to date.

Jane Godwin, Janice Boone, Nancy Morton, and Maria Clontz add finishing touches to the Christmas tree.

Quill and Scroll Club held their initial meeting in the fall of the year as an induction ceremony for outstanding members of the HANOVERIAN and Wildcat staffs.

Throughout the year members of the club gained experience in their individual staff assignments through planning, taking, and cropping pictures and later through the writing of copy. Officers formed an executive committee which planned all the activities of the club.

In the spring members shared new methods and techniques with neighboring schools at the journalism symposium. High schools from the surrounding counties accepted invitations to send representatives to NHHS for this workshop. Bringing copies of their high school yearbooks and school newspapers, the representatives attended sessions held in high school classrooms where they discussed and exchanged ideas.

During the year, supper meetings promoted better relationships between newspaper and yearbook staffs and provided relaxing diversions for members.

At the end of the year a picnic meeting held at Wrightsville Beach elected and installed the 1967-68 officers.

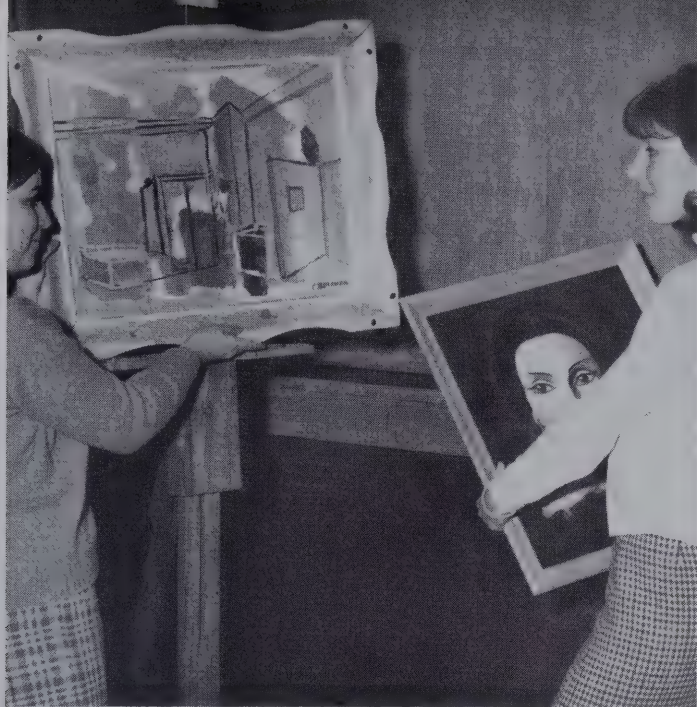

During the journalism symposium, Quill and Scroll Club members—Jim Gillespie, Mary Murrell, Etta Wittrock, Ramona Hutton, and Rosalind Lipsius—listen as George Sloan, president, explains the techniques used in writing.

First Row: C. Cline, D. West, M. Murrell, J. Gibson, D. McKeithan, J. Williams, J. Howe; Second Row: P. Scott, K. Gregory, T. Mowbray, P. Wilson, A. Ward, L. Kelly, T. Hammond; Third Row: L. Pyle, K. Parrish, R. Hutton, J. Smith, Laura Drawdy, L. Simon; Fourth Row: M. Leonard, B. Jordon, M. Gooden, T. Torhan, R. Lipsius, C. Murchison; Fifth Row: J. Hurst, N. Hunter, D. McCoy, P. Art Club members, Mary Thorning and Robin Hill, assemble paintings for the Art Show in Brogden Hall.

Art Club members worked diligently to prepare a float for the Homecoming Parade. Producing the winning float, however, duly rewarded their efforts.

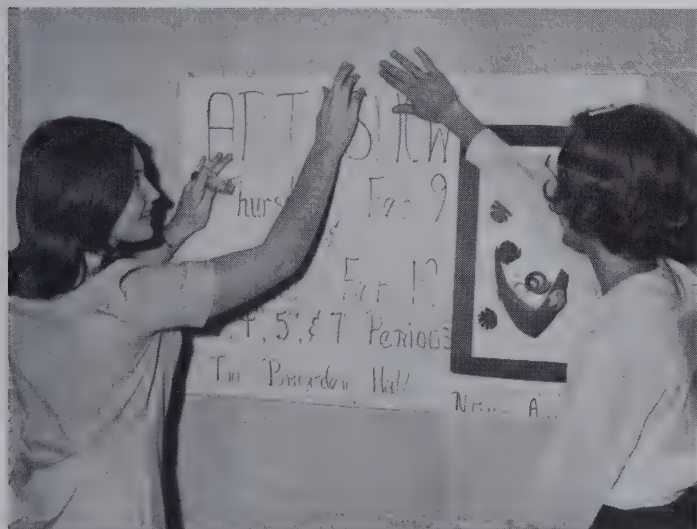

For this year's Christmas project, Santa with his reindeer prepared to leave for the North Pole from the front lawn of NHHS.

Members painted murals for the Homecoming Dance and ROTC Ball. Attractive posters placed about the school and in the windows of downtown stores advertised the student Art Show held in February.

Among the selections shown were pen and ink sketches, watercolors, oils, and tempera paintings.

During the Azalea Festival, members displayed a variety of paintings in the Cottage Lane Art Exhibit on Orange Street.

Shirley Sikes, secretary, and Rebecca Johnson place signs around the school to advertise the student Art Show.

Art Club president Linda Loth captures fall colors in a painting for the Cottage Lane Art Exhibit.

Mary Thorning directs as Johnny McGee and Jeff Phillips erect the Christmas lawn scene.

As Nancy Morton, Julia Barfield, and Nell Hooper discuss the new telephone directory, David Elebash, committee co-chairman, puts it to practical use.

Student Publications, the Handbook and Telephone Directory, composed the two annual printing projects prepared entirely by student volunteers. Especially helpful to sophomores, but equally beneficial for all, is the Telephone Directory. This publication provides an easy reference for the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all NHHS faculty members and students, in addition it lists the students' homeroom numbers. Staff members divided into groups in the fall for the tasks of alphabetizing, typing, proofreading, selling, and delivering the directories. Just in time for Christmas staff members delivered the directories to each homeroom.

The Student Handbook, emblazoned with a flaming torch, briefly summarized the activities and organizations available to NHHS students.

For the first time in several years, members of the Handbook committee sold ads helping the student government meet the rising costs of publications. Other activities and improvements included an updated curriculum, additional information concerning scholarships, awards, and the 1966-67 varsity football and basketball schedules. These features made the Handbook an invaluable asset for '67 NHHS students, new and old.

While Sally Godwin and Edna Smith sketch the cover, Nan Hunter, Cindy Simpkins, Ike Puzon, John Mavros and Mr. Stout, advisor, discuss layouts for the 1967 Handbook.

Bible Club members invited local ministers each Wednesday for the morning devotions held daily at Trinity Methodist Church.

Two needy families in Wilmington received food baskets donated by the Club at Thanksgiving. At Christmas members distributed copies of the "Christmas Story" to interested high school students, and dressed as Santa and his helpers, caroled at local hospitals and the Catherine Kennedy Home.

Robert Garber and Kathy Amerson replace the Bible Club bulletin board on the first floor.

Members of the Billy Hallyburton Award committee—Cheryl Skipper, Laura Zygmunt, Donald Clayton, and Sara Mallard—listen as Bucky Ward, chairman, outlines the responsibility of the committee in choosing the most influential Christian student at NHHS.

Newly inducted members of the National Honor Society: R. Agan, B. Tillery, J. Jacquier, M. Murchison, J. Raney, M. McKeowan, S. Sims, A. Ward, C. Bear, I. Scott, A. Lee, D. Elebash, C. Lee, J. Laughlin, C. Bass, S. Shapiro, P. Cherry, W. Ambrose, P. Viser, E. Drapkin, B. Barrett, C. Nunalee, and T. Bradshaw. Leading the traditional ceremony were senior members: J. Hurst, C. Blann, L. Hemby, T. Mowbray, S. Pelland, B. Jordan, S. Perten, J. McKoy, M. Padrick, N. Hunter, M. Nifong, R. Sisson, L. Arnsten, P. Baggett, J. Eiden, and J. Tinga.

Nan Hunter, Susan Perten, Van Ward, Donna West, and Mike Nifong eagerly await steaks being cooked by Tricia Mowbray and Larry Hemby.

National Honor Society members began their monthly supper meetings with a pool party held at the home of Jackie McKoy. Throughout the year invited faculty members attended many of these meetings.

An executive cabinet—comprised of the president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the society—arranged details concerning suppers throughout the year.

In the spring honor roll students were guests at a tea held in the Student Union.

A coaching staff, formed from members of the society, offered an individual tutoring service available in most subjects to NHHS students.

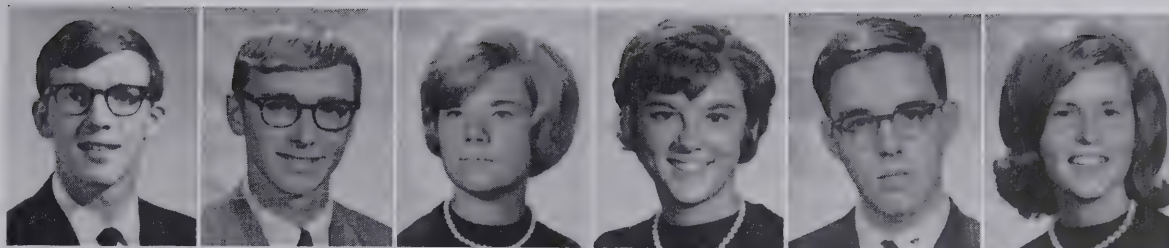

Highlighting the year were two induction ceremonies, one in the fall for seniors and a second one in the spring for juniors.

In the spring twenty-five new members inducted into the society boosted membership to a total of seventy-one. Seven local members attended the statewide convention held in Nags Head, North Carolina. National Honor Society pays tribute to a pioneer educator, Miss Amy Bradley, by devoting time to the maintenance of her grave in Oakdale Cemetery.

Hanover Singers

reechoed the "Sound of Music" as they began another year of performances.

During the Thanksgiving season, the Hanover Singers presented their first concert with selections from "The Brazilian Psalm" and The Music Man. The approaching Christmas season brought a full schedule of engagements. Among the many Christmas performances were a concert held at the school, performances for the Exchange Club and the Lions Club, a program at the Blockade Runner, Wrightsville Beach, and at the Boucan Room in downtown Wilmington.

Spring brought the most important performance of the year—the District Choral Contest. Selections used for this performance were "Choose Something Like a Star" by Randall Thompson and "Holy Radiant Light" by Gretchaninoff.

Although basically a performing group, the Hanover Singers had an active social life. In October, they sponsored a Get-Together Dance to help acquaint the new members with the group. Mr. Alexander hosted the Christmas party after the Hanover Singers went caroling to the Medcenter.

Completing the social events of the year, the juniors planned a senior banquet.

R. Willetts, T. Turner, G. McLucas, D. White, D. Braak, D. Jewell, and J. Frye discuss their concert as they return to school from a performance for the Lions Club.

The Hanover Singers' party provides fun and laughter after a hard week's work in class, especially for Brenda Taylor, Mike Milligan, Laura Trawick, Eddie Lockamy and Edwinna Dowdy.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Alexander, the girls put forward their best, in hopes of being a member of Han-over Singers next year.

First Row: G. Lancaster, V. Waggett, J. Huband, C. Johnson;
Second Row: M. Felton, C. Still, B. Coleman, S. Smith, C. Fryer;
Third Row: D. Neely, M. Herring, D. Mintz, F. Epps, K. Parrish;
Fourth Row: P. Stanley, J. Wells, W. Dowdy, D. Simpson, M. Miller, M. Best.

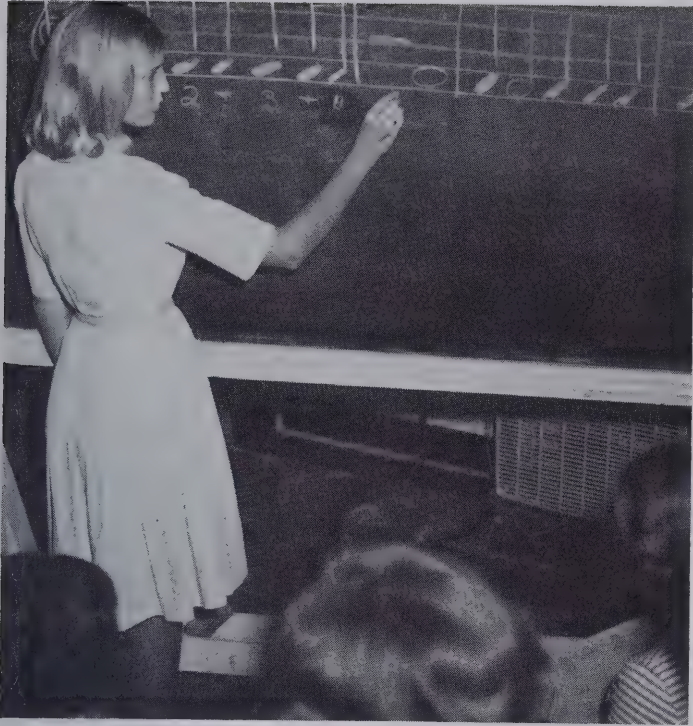

Janet Huband and Pam Horne rehearse while the other girls take a break.

Girls Chorus, a class of thirty-eight students, met daily at first period to practice for participation in the Christmas concert, the District Choral Contest, and the Spring concert. In preparation for the District Choral Contest—the competitive performance of the year—the girls rehearsed “Holy Lord God” by Caine and “Let Every Heart be Merry” by Vecchi.

GIRLS' CHORUS. First Row: B. Jackson, A. Price, M. Lorek, M. Felton, B. Smith, G. Lancaster, M. Robbins, J. Blake; Second Row: C. Johnson, F. Walker, B. Coleman, J. Huband, D. Mintz, M. ## Glee Club and Boys' Chorus practice regularly to master the skills of music—such as, voice blending, sight reading, note values, and proper breathing techniques.

Boys' Chorus is a new club consisting of twenty members. This chorus met on Tuesdays after school.

As a regular class of twenty-seven students, the Glee Club is a training group for advancement to the Girls' Chorus or the Hanover Singers.

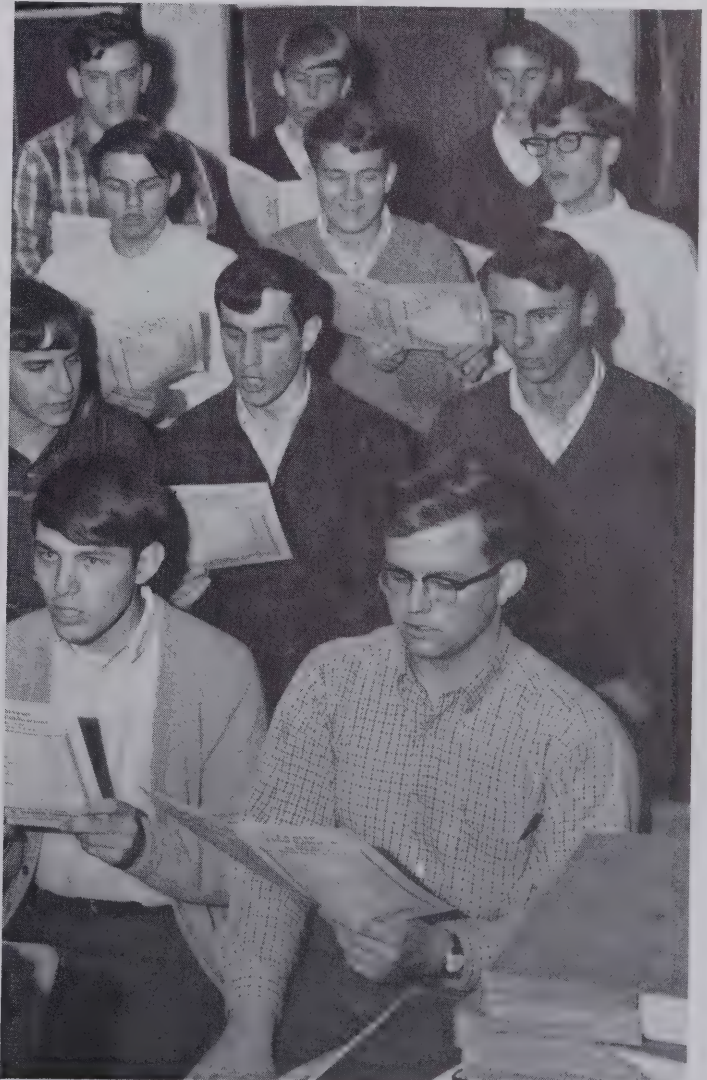

John Barker, the accompanist, and Mr. Alexander discuss a new arrangement for the Boys' Chorus.

Virginia Hudson, Ann Marley, and Roberta Bazemore practice breathing correct to increase their skill in singing.

Boys' Chorus rehearses for the District Choral Contest.

First Row: T. Clemmons, J. Barker; Second Row: C. McDonald, E. Lockamy, D. Barbour; Third Row: S. Smith, M. Padrick, M. Nifong; Fourth Row: M. Thompson, R. Sweatman, P. Childress.

The Music Society, created by students interested in fellowship among musicians, clearly emphasized the need for future activities involving both the bands and singing groups.

Prior to the club's creation, members of the band, Girls' Chorus, and Hanover Singers seldom associated with one another. After orientation of the honor club, however, students became increasingly aware of the large number of young people interested in all forms of music—classical, as well as popular.

Through correspondence with music clubs in other high schools (especially Southern Wayne High, Mt. Olive, North Carolina) the group learned of a national charter for which they applied.

Car washes and talent shows provided the necessary funds for the club's operation.

Other projects for the year included study of light classical music such as that of Chopin and of arrangements of classical pieces employed by the Swingle Singers.

Chess Club kept alive a competitive spirit among its twelve members. Every Tuesday after school the club held its meetings at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Supplying their own chess boards and playing pieces, members followed games both new and old, becoming so involved that sometimes the meeting lasted for several hours. Challengers of NHHS included Williston High School, Wilmington College, and the local junior high schools. Playing other schools offered a broader field of competition and enabled members to test their ability in the game of chess.

Howard Talley contemplates his next move as John New moves his Knight into position.

Debating Club emphasized the importance of stimulating arguments over current issues. Exercising their ability of persuasion and their authoritative manner of speaking, members developed their skill as debaters.

Club members attended a workshop at the University of North Carolina. Two main speakers, an economist and a political scientist, voiced their views on the National Debate Topic for the year: "Should Foreign Aid Be Limited to Non-Military Aid?" Also attending the State Speech Contest in Winston-Salem in March, members delivered extemporaneous and oratorical speeches. The Debating Club entered a Round Robin debate in which all high schools in southeastern North Carolina participated. Club members divided into teams, the affirmative headed by Mr. James Potter, and the negative coached by Mr. Richard Feagin. Four outstanding debaters from the club, along with Coach Feagin went on the road.

Lori Scoggins, Jimmie Cox, and Howard Talley practice for their Round Robin debates.

National Thespians enjoyed the thrill of bright lights, colorful settings, and opening nights as they began another year of productions.

Presenting the comedy Cheaper by the Dozen was the first Thespians' production for the year. In the spring, the members participated in the Carolina Drama Festival by producing the one-act play entitled Finders Keepers. Advancement of this play to the State Drama Festival at Chapel Hill was the goal of the cast and crew.

All of the apprentices worked toward membership in the National Thespian Society. By completing one hundred hours of work on stage or back stage, apprentices fulfilled the major requirement. Membership increased to twenty-five after the induction of thirteen new members in February.

Mike Nifong accepts from Ike Puzon the Key Club Award of the Month for the Hanover Singers.

Helping Pat Simmons to lunch is one of the duties of Hoppy Smithwick in the Key Club.

Key Club initiated its first banquet by entertaining the county school administrators. Helping to boost school spirit, Key Clubbers sponsored buses to out-of-town football games and to the State Fair. Presenting the annual Key Club Follies in the spring provided the money for the Key Club scholarship.

Julia Barfield, Vangie Waggett, and Suzanne Burns decide among themselves their choice of carpet for Mr. West's office as they began their most important project.

Keyettes, an auxiliary of the Key Club, began its year by selecting thirty-six girls as charter members. At the Washington Catlett School, the girls provided money for a student's lunch and helped at the Halloween Carnival. As part of the program during the annual Teachers' Banquet, the Keyettes presented to each Key Club member a Christmas stocking made by the girls.

KEYETTES. First Row: E. Newkirk, R. Hufham, C. Nunalee, S. Howell, V. Waggett; Second Row: G. Johnson, E. McKeithan, D. Lee, B. Jaccus, L. Crossley; Third Row: S. Cameron, S. Burns, M. Amateur Radio Club members have worked energetically this year in preparation for the general operator's license examinations to be administered in June. While living by their motto, "May our static always be remembered," the members have repaired the school's transmitter and receiver, erected an antenna atop the Industrial Building, and studied the International Morse Code. At the meetings, the fifteen members learned how to operate the "ham" sets and helped each other increase their speed in sending and receiving the Morse Code.

Robert Pearson, James Carl, Jack Sessions, Dennis Flowers, Robert Benninge, Randy Davis, Donald Clayton, and Bill Beery prepare the sets for use at their next meeting.

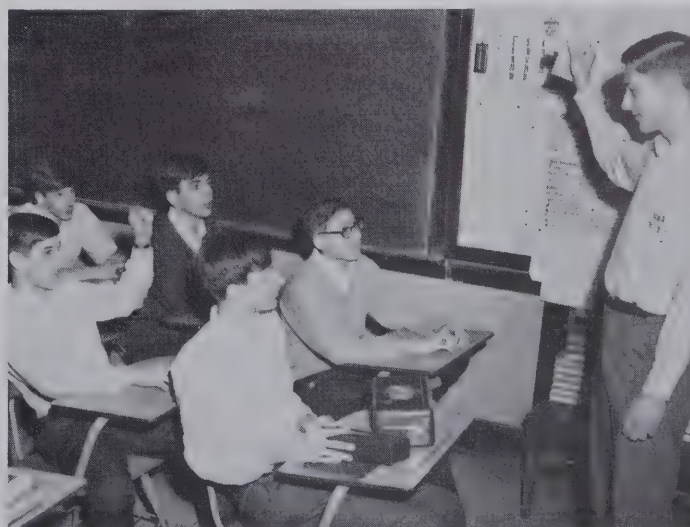

George Futch, Gary Heafner, Gene Herring, and Joe George set up an exhibit for National Coin Week.

James Batten, Thomas Jordan, Donald Cayton, and Bill Freyer practice the Morse Code in preparation for their operator's license test.

Coin Club members thrilled to the excitement of a coin auction at each meeting, each member working to complete or expand his collection. Backed by the Cape Fear Coin Club, they moved toward their goal of membership in the American Numismatist Society. Various coin exhibits and displays around school during National Coin Week helped to promote student interest in the hobby of coin-collecting.

George Futch bids on a coin offered by Gene Herring while Gary Myers, Chick Coleman, and Joe George wait for a coin that they need to come up.

Donna West, news editor, Marilyn Gooden and Jean Williams, feature editors, type copy for the Wildcat while Tricia Mowbray and Bronwyn Jordan, news editors, review past editions of the Wildcat.

Wildcat produced by Journalism I and II students, plays an important part in school activities. Basically the two staffs of the Wildcat, news and features, combined to publish ten issues annually. News staff dealt mainly with presenting the facts of an issue while features staff presented the students with new ideas and editorials of interest. This year's editorials stressed the need for curriculum improvement.

Non-staff members submitted creative works—such as, poems, essays, and art painting.

"Sound Off," a new column, allowed any non-staff member to present an essay on a subject which he felt should be brought to the attention of the readers.

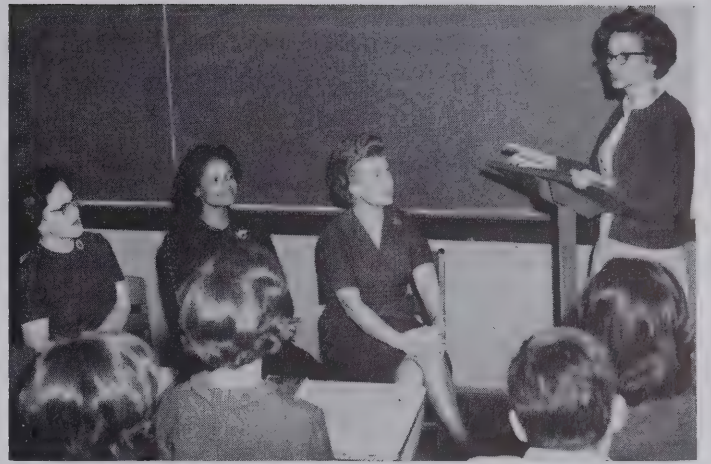

Publishing a school page every other week in the Wilmington Star News informed residents of school activities. Feature items published were notices of school dances, plays, ball games, club activities, and the outstanding achievements of NHHS students—such as, winners of essay contest and trips to foreign countries.

A weekly television show produced by Journalism II students and presented at both lunch periods told of activities around the school. Students who appeared on the show wrote and compiled their own television scripts.

Pondering over pictures, Rosalind Lipsius, Frances Farmer, Page Scott, Dianne Mckoy, subscription manager, and Ramona Hutton argue over layouts for an upcoming edition of the newspaper.

Marilyn Leonard and Linda Dixon look over each others layouts as Robert Garber, Mike Padrick, activities staff head, and Becky Forcum, discuss picture locations while Marguerite Curtis and Bettie Doughty talk over upcoming pictures.

Jeannie Howe and Gwen Brown discuss plans for their pages in the HANOVERIAN as Cherry Cline, features staff editor, Jackie Hurst, Van Ward, Alice Proctor, and David Bissette draw layouts for pictures.

Hanoverian, consisting of twenty-nine members and three advisors, met daily to work on compiling the 1967 yearbook. Five staffs—ROTC, sports, activities, features, and class—divided assignments to cover 1967 life at New Hanover.

Each staff member planned and took pictures, drew layouts, gathered facts, and wrote copy. Daily throughout the year the staff worked to produce an edition worthy of following the 1966 All-American yearbook.

Dee Littleton, Donna Williams, Jean Thompson, Carolyn Bass, Jean Williams, Maria Clontz, Cindy Simpkins, head majorette.

Majorettes added color and pageantry to football games, Homecoming, Christmas, and Azalea Festival Parades. Technique classes acquainted any interested girls in the art of baton twirling. Teaching a small group, each instructing majorette taught her individual style of baton twirling.

Dance Band consisted of seventeen members selected by tryouts. Practicing every Wednesday after school, members performed under the direction of Mr. William McAdams. As a boost to school spirit, they played at the Raleigh-Broughton and Jacksonville games.

New Hanover High School Band

marched into view with a flash of orange and black and a roll of drums. Thus opened another season of performances for the band.

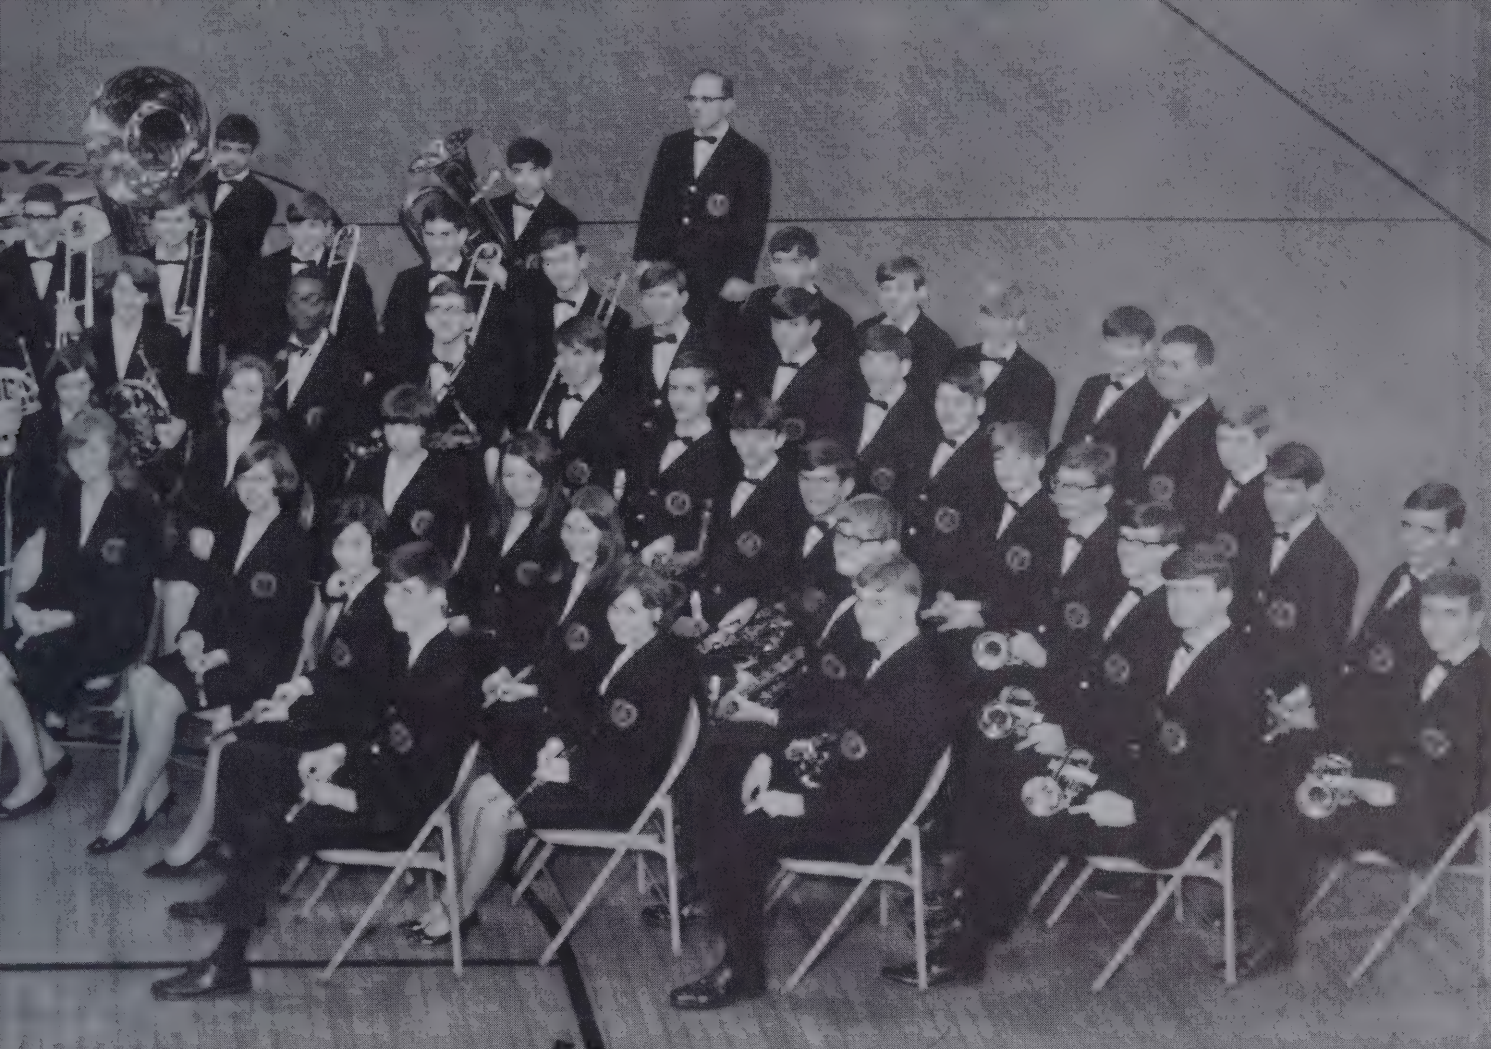

Under the direction of Mr. William McAdams, they played at all school functions, pep rallies, football games, and Homecoming Parade. Because of the immensity of the band, they separated into two divisions, each practicing at different times during the school day.

Participating in one of the largest band-days in the history of southeastern North Carolina was a new experience for the band members. During half-time ceremonies at the Air Force Academy and University of North Carolina football game in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, the band performed.

In preparation for the Christmas Concert, the woodwind section attended a clinic at Wilmington College. Since this concert was their major financial drive of the year, both band students and the Band Boosters Club sold tickets. The program highlighted religious music as well as traditional and popular songs of the season.

School Spirit Club converted the excess energy of NHHS students into displays of rousing school spirit through pep rally skits and the Homecoming Parade.

From the thirty-two clubs which entered floats in the Homecoming Parade, judges chose the Art Club as the winner. In cooperation with the student government, the School Spirit Club sold ballpoint pens embossed with the 1966 football schedule. During Sportsmanship Week Reverend William Flannagan, a local Presbyterian minister, spoke to the student body in a special assembly. Climaxing the week the club sponsored a social held in the student union.

Alpha Ward concludes her speech to Government Club members in the American Oratorical Contest.

Government Club sponsored the American Legion Oratorical Contest in NHHS.

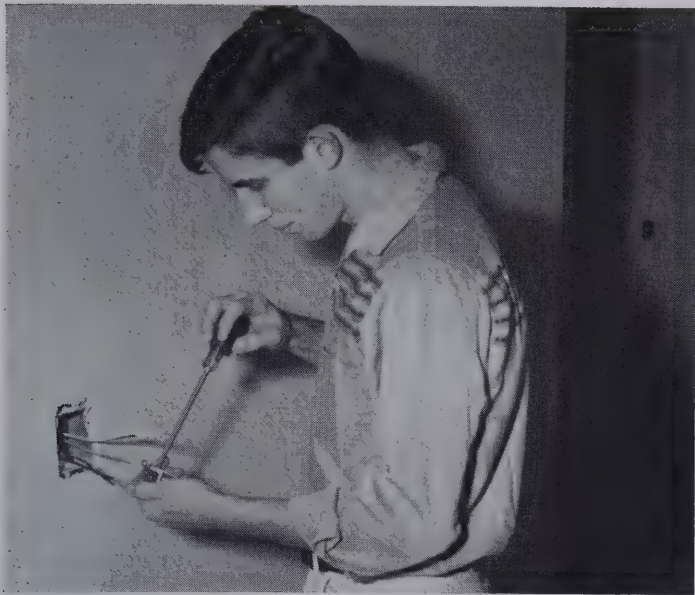

Participating contestants prepared speeches from eight to ten minutes long and gave them without notes. This year's subject dealt with the duties and obligations of a citizen to the government. Three selected students continued to compete in the divisional contest.

Club members sent a Christmas offering to the Boys' Home at Lake Waccamaw and presented a new American Flag to the school.

America presented a real "Willie the Wildcat" to the student body during Homecoming Week. The wildcat was a big boost to school spirit and a welcomed addition at the games and pep rallies. Industrial Co-operative Training students make up the VICA. Activities this year included the annual employer's banquet, the preparation of a food basket for a needy family at Thanksgiving, a study of parliamentary procedure and leadership conferences. Students in ICT find vocational opportunities as a carpenter, mortician, dental assistant, mechanics or physician's assistant are among the assignments offered.

Sherri Long introduces Mr. Vaughn to DECA students at their Christmas Meeting.

Distributive Education Club of America

tackled the difficult task of preparing its fifty-one members for tomorrow's complex business world. Emphasis this year on increasing club activity created a stronger, more unified DECA. Students held the image of DE as all work and no play.

That image has given way to a well-rounded program of professional club activities providing leadership development, civic consciousness, social intelligence, and vocational understanding. Some highlights were the guest speakers at the monthly dinner meetings, Employer-Employee Banquet, Christmas Social, and the contests conducted on local, district, state, and national levels.

On-the-job training is an important phase of the DE program. Twenty-eight different distributive businesses cooperated as training stations where the students received practical experience while learning theory of salesmanship, advertising, display, merchandising, economics, and psychology in the classroom.

Cooperative Office Occupations

enables each of its thirty-nine members to hold part time jobs which teach the necessary skills and knowledge for vocational advancement. These students serve as secretaries, librarians, receptionists, typists, and telephone operators at various local businesses. Some local firms employing COO members are Sears-Roebuck & Co., New Hanover High School, Payne's, and Hemenway Hall. In early spring COO joined DECA and VICA clubs of New Hanover in planning the annual Employer-Employee Banquet. This banquet helps to promote better relations between bosses and workers.

Spanish Club' launched its 1966

Christmas season with eighty voices singing "O, Pueblecito de Belén", "Noche de Paz", and other Spanish Christmas carols. Members soon exchanged these celestial sounds for shouts of laughter when the piñata broke and candy rained down on all.

A panel of three students—Rhesa Reagan, Nancy Cooper, and Brenda Bowen—told of their travels to Chile, Peru, and Mexico, respectively, during the summer. They found life in a strange country to be interesting and in some cases unusual by our standards. Nancy reported that persons invited to a party beginning at eleven o'clock received notice only a few hours earlier. Language Week in April climaxed this full and exciting year with the Spanish Club banquet.

Laughter prevails as a bull takes shape. Jane Allen, Nancy Johnson, Susan Lynch, Bobby Hatcher, secretary, Susan Perten, president, David Elebash, treasurer and Maclyn McKeown, vice-president work industriously.

An artist? Mike Padrick paints flower vendor Peggy Visor's portrait on the French Club Homecoming Float.

French Club took on an authentic French air this year because of firsthand accounts from Donna Sneed, Frances Ferger, and Mrs. West, who visited France last summer. After four days of sightseeing in England, they traveled to Tours, France, where they attended the Univesite de Touraine for four weeks. In Lourdes, France, the travelers viewed the procession of three thousand people singing "Ave Maria" around the statue of Mary as part of the service marking the Apparition of the Virgin by St. Bernadette.

Irene Wall as Calpurnius and Van Ward as Caesar share a tender moment in the play Exitium Caesaris.

Latin Club members climaxed their March meeting with their acting of the play Exitium Caesaris (Ex Libris Plutarchis). They portrayed the death of Caesar humorously, if not accurately. During the year students saw the influence of Latin on history and in present day affairs through interesting programs—such as, one on mythology and one of Latin Christmas carols. A trip to Chapel Hill in March to the State Latin Club convention furthered the members knowledge of Latin and Roman customs with programs, exhibits, panel discussions, speakers, and displays.

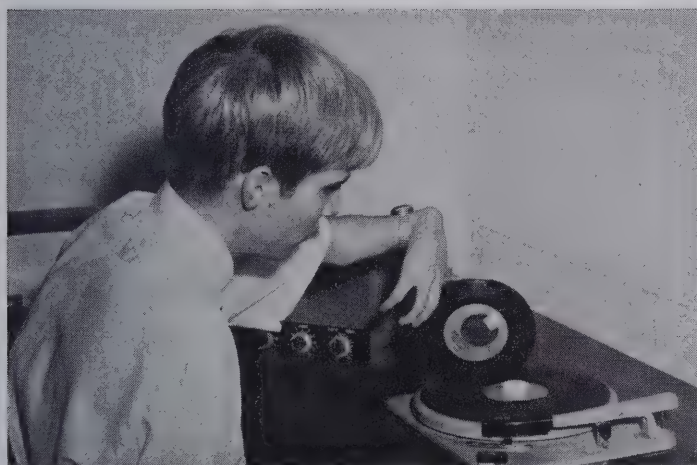

Kathy Best, Barbara Morse, Isabel Scott, and Sharyn Stephens plan which route they will take to the State Latin Club Convention in Chapel Hill.

Wild is the "big sound" in the Student Union, as it furnishes a swinging background rhythm for everyone—whether eating, socializing, or studying. Students hear their favorite songs before school, at lunch, and at first or seventh periods. Adding a beat to student activities are groups such as—the "Beachboys", the "Supremes", the "Monkees", and "Four Seasons". Disc jockeys learn how to please their listeners as they gain experience in being "on the air". In some cases this service to the student body may prove to be a start on a rewarding career.

Students are unanimous in their praises for WILD, which really lives up to its name. It's the WILDest!

Future Nurses Club, though relatively small, was influential in suggesting to its twelve members openings for future study in the medical field. A representative from State Health Careers, members of the military nursing corps, and representatives from hospital schools of nursing explained various programs offering financial assistance to students entering nursing and related fields of medicine.

"I think this should do it." Future Nurses Club members Carolyn Edwards and Sharon Higgins help Mrs. Boone in the infirmary.

Interact Club, composed of thirty-two active members, sponsored buses to out-of-town football games in Fayetteville and Durham and again to Raleigh, Durham, Jacksonville, and Fayetteville during the basketball season.

Interact members transformed each normally dull parking meter into the colorful image of a candy cane during the Christmas holidays. These decorations not only added color but also increased holiday spirit and served as a reminder of the services of Interacts throughout the year.

parking lot during basketball games to raise money for the school athletic fund.

Derbies sold this year were an attractive money-making project. Members sold the bright orange and black hats to NHHS students during "Fill-Brogden Hall Night."

Continually looking ahead, Interact members assisted in starting new clubs in Wallace, Burgaw, and Jacksonville. In addition to those in nearby towns, the Interacts organized a second club to begin next fall at the new John T. Hoggard Senior High School in Wilmington.

Future Teachers of America

initiated a program involving twenty teachers' assistants this year. Students gained valuable experience in their chosen career while teachers received much needed aid. In November the club sponsored a tea for teachers during American Education Week. In January the Delta Kappa Gamma Society sponsored a social for retired teachers. Club members celebrated Teaching Careers Month in the spring with various posters and bulletin boards offering helpful information on teaching as a future vocation. Club members finished the month with the senior banquet and the presentation of a one-hundred dollar scholarship to a senior club member. Grades and outstanding service to the club were the basis for choosing the recipient of the award. Members raised part of the money for the scholarship by a rummage sale in December and a candy sale in March.

Future Homemakers of America brought the Christmas spirit to the school students this year by sponsoring the Christmas Dance. The sale of cookbooks, Favorite Recipes of Home Economics Teachers, provided funds for the band and decorations. In the early fall the club members attended the District Two FHA Rally held in Jacksonville, North Carolina. They also sent a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family of the Wilmington area. Club members donated the contents of the basket.

In the spring the club had a Family Night, which included all club members and their families. For this occasion the girls prepared all refreshments, cookies and drinks.

Library Assistants processed and shelved over one thousand eight hundred new books this year. By a rearrangement of the study and work space the library provided extra room to be used as a planning and listening center. In this area teachers utilized special reference books, previewed film strips and movies, and audited recordings for classroom use. In the fall when many of the sophomores first visited the library, the assistants helped to familiarize them with its organization. Daily several of the twenty-two senior English classes went to the library for extra research on their term papers. Seniors explored information in books, papers, magazines, and encyclopedias.

Chemistry and Physics Assistants

are perhaps the most essential elements of a lab day. By answering questions for the underclassmen, the assistants saved Mrs. LeGwin, Mrs. Emmart, and Mr. Clifford much unnecessary work. They made many of the chemical solutions—such as, sodium bromides, copper sulfates, and iron chlorides—used in the experiments. Keeping the labs clean, correcting the experiment write-ups, and taking inventory of all the equipment used during the year were also responsibilities of the lab assistants. Further exploration into the branches of chemistry was a privilege of the assistants. For example, John New worked out an experiment to show the diffusion of hydrogen. By volunteering their services, the lab assistants not only reviewed their prior year of chemistry or physics but also learned important data current to 1967.

Office Assistants give their free time to aid in the administrative offices. By collecting the daily report of absentees and acting as mailmen, the assistants save the office personnel many steps. The assistants type letters and special bulletins, take telephone calls, file records, and answer questions for inquisitive visitors. Another important job is to calculate numerical averages to determine how each senior stands in his class.

Donna Denny and Jean Andrews discover that cooperation makes office work much easier.

Student Bus Drivers freely took on the awesome responsibility of transporting approximately one thousand New Hanover High School students to and from school. The addition of girl drivers caused many boys to fear for their flawless driving record; however, their record continues to remain spotless. Transporting students was not the only duty performed by the bus drivers. Other duties included keeping the buses clean, maintaining order while the buses were in motion, and administering first aid whenever it was needed. When the North Carolina Symphony performed in Wilmington, student bus drivers were responsible for conveying the fourth, fifth, and sixth graders to and from Brogden Hall.

Also efficient were the substitute drivers, who assumed the responsibilities of the regular drivers during their absences. In January the bus coordinators held a school for prospective bus drivers. From the thirty-eight students attending this school the coordinators selected twenty-four students to be next year's drivers. The number of student drivers selected depends on how many adult drivers the county hires.

Coaches Help Develop Teamwork, Responsibility

New Hanover's athletic program advanced considerably in 1966-67. In addition to football, basketball, baseball, cross-country track, tennis, wrestling, and varied intramural events, the Wildcats opened the first spring track session since the '30's. To instruct these sports, Wilmington has the aid of eleven coaches devoted to the cause of promoting high school athletics. Under the leadership of Leon Brogden, county athletic director and head basketball coach, are Jap Davis, head football, wrestling, and golf coach; Buck Hardee, football and baseball coach; Bill Hardee, football and baseball coach; Hal Stout, J.V. football and basketball coach; Red Hardy, J.V. football coach; Frank Farrow, cross country and spring track coach; Tom Clark, spring track coach; Richard Henderson, tennis coach; Toddy Fennell, basketball and J.V. baseball coach; and Mrs. Jean Tillitt, director of girls' athletics. Along with the addition of a new sport, the high school received some much needed aid which enabled it to erect five modern tennis courts and to finish work on the new track field opposite the school.

Tennis, baseball, and spring track—the warm weather sports—are coached by Richard Henderson, Buck Hardee, Bill Hardee, Frank Farrow, and Tom Clark.

The Wildcats join together before the kickoff.

Wildcat Football Team Produces Fighting Spirit

Richard Armstrong and Jerry Harris shared the responsibility of leading the team.

The 1966 season proved the most profitable in several years for the New Hanover football team. Opening the season in fine form, the Wildcats trounced Kinston's Red Devils before a home crowd in Legion stadium. Misfortune seemed to dog the Wilmingtonians for the next few weeks as they dropped games to Broughton, Durham, and Goldsboro—redeemed only by a 14-0 shutout of Rocky Mount. The start of the second half of the season brought a distinct change. In hard-fought contests, the 'Cats triumphed over New Bern, Enloe, and Wilson. A journey to Fayetteville produced the only setback of the second half. The next week, before a large Homecoming crowd, the Port City boys scored in the closing seconds to finish the season with their sixth win.

Following each game, the coaching staff picked a "Wildcat of the Week." For the '66 season the players picked were Freddy Harrell, Richard Armstrong, Jerry Harris, Mike Beale, Woody Walston, Larry Tootoo, Stanley Sneed, and R. J. Lewis. As an additional honor, Jerry Harris and Richard Armstrong were voted Most Valuable Players for the year.

Climaxing weeks of practice, the New Hanover J.V. football team opened their '67 season with a 19-6 victory over Kinston. In the next game, with the Kittens on home ground, Jacksonville overpowered them 31 to 13. After this loss the Kittens traveled to Rocky Mount, where they were again defeated 36 to 13. In another contest the Kittens fought Goldsboro to a 14-14 tie. Next the sophomore 'Cats returned to form by trouncing New Bern 32 to 6. Once again the J.V.'s tied, as they scrapped Wilson to a 13-13 finish. Returning home, the Kittens crushed Fayetteville 33 to 13. To climax a season of 3 wins, 2 ties, and 3 losses, the Kittens went down battling, 26-27, against Jacksonville.

Cross Country Squad Completes Winning Season

Pre-season workouts began in August, and by September the 'Cats were eager for their first clash with other schools. After an informal meet in Fayetteville, Wilmington met arch-rival Southern Pines only to be edged 23-31 in a contest in which the low score wins. Not to be denied, a speedy Wildcat squad trounced Chapel Hill and Goldsboro in the first tri-meet of the season. Carolina Military Academy was next on the list, followed by Chapel Hill and Fayetteville in another three way match. In a meet with Wingate College and Carolina Military, the Wilmingtonians suffered their second defeat. Spurred on, the tracksters reversed the standing with Southern Pines in a four way meet in which Fayetteville and Goldsboro also succumbed to the 'Cats. The next weekend the Wildcats attended the season's final event, a six team contest in Fayetteville.

Although Chapel Hill, Durham, Fayetteville, and Goldsboro all finished behind the Wilmingtonians, Southern Pines again managed to underscore the 'Cats. With four firsts and three seconds for the season, the Port City runners journeyed to Chapel Hill to carry off fourth place in a field of over twenty-five teams.

Wrestlers Find 4A Conference Matches Demanding

The New Hanover grapplers started the season with the first wrestling win on record. The Wildcats teamed up to trounce Kinston 38-23 in their opener. Unfortunately, Wilmington was unable to group their efforts as a team for the rest of the season. Matches with New Bern, Wilson, Goldsboro, and Jacksonville all proved unlucky though several individual wrestlers distinguished themselves. Lou Latham, at 130 pounds, and Jim Howarth, at 197, both came in third in their weight class in Eastern 4-A Conference. Brad Tillery, 168, was runner-up and co-captain. John Howarth came in first in the Eastern Division at 148 pounds.

High scoring 'Cat, Kim Huband, lays another one in.

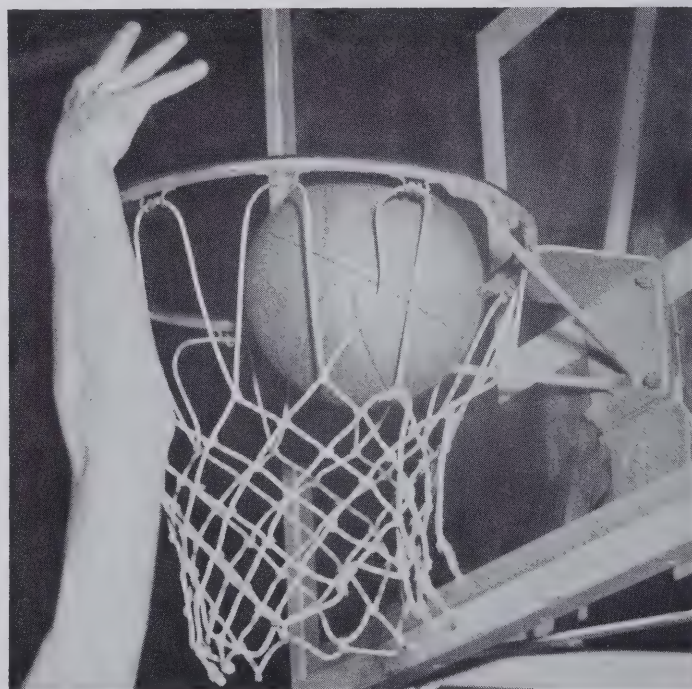

Coach Leon Brogden's Wildcats regained their reputation in 1967. The schedule started optimistically in December as the red-hot 'Cats buried badly overclassed Southwood Junior College, 74 to 25. High Point and Durham were the next two opponents to fall victim to the New Hanover five. The fourth team, Goldsboro, gave the Wildcats their first close match of the season. The next opponent, highly rated Raleigh Broughton, did not stand a chance with a final score of 66 to 36. Wilmington suddenly hit a slump, and Burlington took quick advantage to hand the Port City team its first loss of the year. From that point the 'Cats were off and running, and they defied the conference to catch them. Victories over Smith High School of Greensboro, Jacksonville, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Raleigh-Enloe, and a squeaker over Fayetteville placed the NHHS 'Cats in a solid first place in the Eastern 4-A Conference. The second half of the season began with a contest with second-ranked Durham. In a hard fought game, the Bulldogs again succumbed to the Wildcat shooting ability which sank 28 of 31 free throws; an amazing 90% average at the line. Goldsboro, Broughton, and Jacksonville next fell, though a scrappy Cardinal squad nearly pulled an upset. With only four games left, the New Hanover Wildcats seemed to find themselves and proceeded to swamp Wilson, Rocky Mount, Enloe, and Fayetteville. Next on the calendar was the Eastern Conference Tournament, which the Wildcats breezed through until the final event when a hot Durham five took the lead and held on to break the Wilmingtonian's sixteen game winning streak.

The state championships, set in Carmichael Hall in Chapel Hill, found the Wildcats ready to play. In the first round, Wilmington came from behind to crush a highly rated West Charlotte squad. Garringer High, the next evening, also fell victim to the accurate Port City team. The final game with Gastonia to determine the state champion went against Wilmington, and the Wildcats had to settle for number two in the state of North Carolina, but not before they amassed twenty-three victories with only three defeats.

Fayetteville fell victim to the J.V.'s talent 60-52 along with Durham 46 to 41. The Kittens then suffered their second conference game defeat to Goldsboro 48-58. Back once again in form, the J.V.'s toppled the Broughton Caps 68-49. Next Jacksonville was beaten 49-44 and Wilson fell easy prey 52-32. Rocky Mount then handed the Kittens their third defeat of the season 43-40. Enloe provided stiff competition for the sophomore team as the Kittens pulled one out of the fire in three overtimes. Climaxing a brilliant season of 14 wins, 2 losses, Coach Hal Stout's Wild Kittens defeated Fayetteville 62-50.

GAA Promotes Physical Fitness And Good Sportsmanship

Through various supervised exercises and activities, members of the Girls' Athletic Association learn physical fitness drills and sportsmanship. Nearly fifty girls meet on alternate Wednesday afternoons for organized club activities, ranging from the annual March of Dimes Drive held in February to year-round intramural sports. GAA President Linda Eaton and Mrs. Jean Tillitt, physical education teacher and GAA adviser, plan and coordinate sports contests for these active girls.

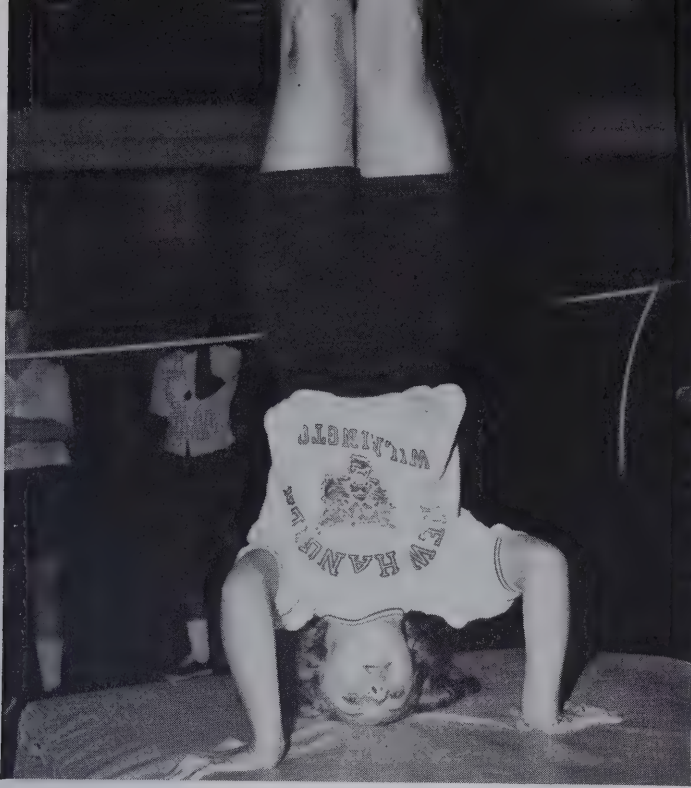

Beginning with special calisthenics and drills, the girls develop skills for seasonal sports. Members compete in badminton, volleyball, and tennis tournaments with points awarded to each girl for group participation and enthusiasm. Girls with the leading number of points are then eligible to attend the State Athletic Meet held this year in Greensboro.

With the addition of new courts, tennis takes preference over the spring sports, though softball, soccer, and ping-pong continue as yearly regulars.

Wildcat Baseball Squad Takes Conference Championship—

'66 Co-captains were Gen Russ and Jerry Martin.

Cool pitching and sure fielding made the difference as the New Hanover baseball team again swept into the championship bracket. After opening the season mildly enough by clipping New Bern 5 to 3, the 'Cats took off on a spree which defied the best teams in the conference. In a return match with New Bern, Wilmington revealed its style by downing the befuddled Bears, 15 to 1. The '66 Wilmingtonians then breezed over Durham, Goldsboro, Broughton, Jacksonville, and Wilson. A strong Rocky Mount squad finally held the 'Cats to their lowest score of the regular season. In revenge, the Port City team stomped Enloe 21 to 0. Fayetteville managed to hold the Wildcats to six runs the following week. Then disaster struck. A scrappy Goldsboro squad, previously beaten 5-0, scrapped their way to a 5-3 decision. Infuriated, New Hanover closed the regular season with lopsided victories over Broughton, Jacksonville, Fayetteville, Rocky Mount, and Enloe. This fine finish capped one of the best NHHS seasons, gave Wilmington first place in the Eastern 4-A Conference, and assured a berth in the state finals. Unfortunately, Wilmington succumbed to a tight defensive contest by Smith High School of Greensboro in the state semi-finals.

In producing the outstanding record, there were many contributions made by individual players. Noted for their batting power, Jerry Simmons, Dickie McLamb, and Mike Farris led the squad by hitting over .320 each. The pitching department also had a problem picking the best hurler. Doug Fox, Jimmy Johnson, and David Thomas all finished the season with perfect records while Gene Russ, who faced the toughest opponents, dropped only two. Jimmy Johnson demonstrated the pitching power of the 'Cats when he threw a perfect game against Jacksonville; and Gene Russ, another Wildcat hurler, was selected by his teammates as most valuable player for the championship season.

Wilmington's Don Harritan rounds third and heads for home plate.

The Wildkittens opened their '66 baseball season by trouncing Southport 16 to 0. In the next contest, Acme-Delco was stopped 5 to 3. The J.V.'s then suffered their first defeat to Goldsboro. In April the team traveled to Topsail where Wilmington won 3 to 2. The Kittens next lost two in a row to Dixon and Topsail by scores of 7 to 1 and 4 to 3, respectively. By crushing Penderlea 6 to 1, the J.V.'s got back in the win column before being defeated again by Goldsboro. After the 7-3 loss, the fired up Kittens overpowered Leland 9 to 3 and Dixon 6 to 1. Next rival, Southport, was beaten 11 to 8 and Leland was again trounced, 14 to 1. Closing out a season of 10 wins and 4 losses the J.V.'s defeated Penderlea 23 to 6.

Spring Track Introduces Itself Into N. H. H. S. Sports

Senior co-captain Roger Shepard leads Tom Sawyer, Jesse Gentry, and Walter Beck in preparation for long distance races.

The spring season of 1967 marked the opening of New Hanover High's first spring track team in over thirty years. With new facilities and equipment, the sport got off to an optimistic start with promise of more to come.

Spring track is divided into two categories—track and field. The track events, captained by Roger Shepard, are those which involve running and speed, while the field events are composed of more specific activities. In its initial season, Wilmington competed in the events of the hundred, two-hundred, four-hundred, and eight-hundred yard runs, along with a one mile distance race. In the field division, under captain John Baldwin, were the high jump, the discus throw, the shotput, and the pole vault. Also featured were relay races, the high and low hurdles, and the broad jump.

Throwing the discus, a field event, requires strength and co-ordination as exhibited by Jim Tisinger.

Frank Hufham charges out with the explosion needed in the dashes.

Don Norris proves that it takes plenty of muscle to toss a twelve pound shot.

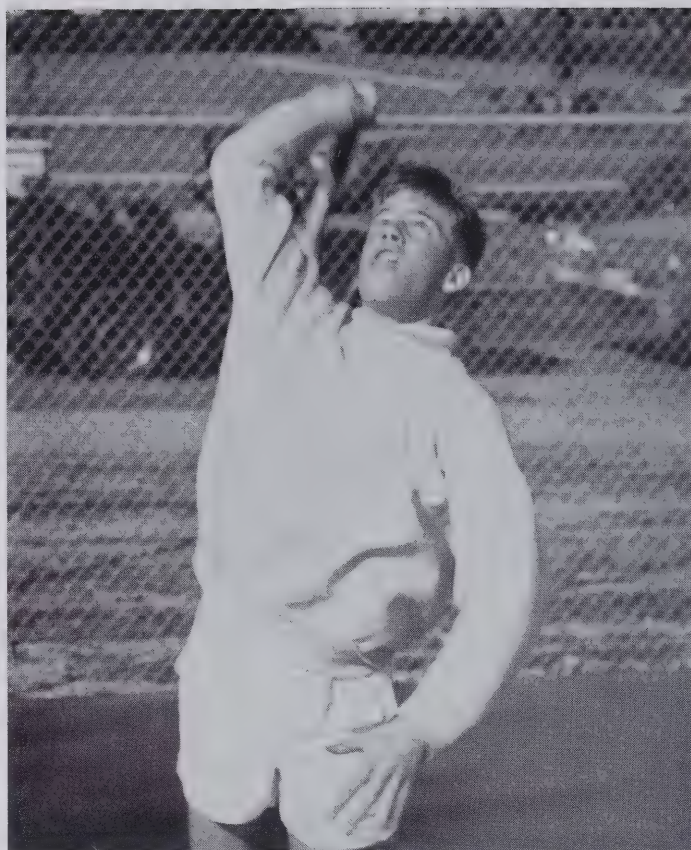

High jump enthusiast Tom Sawyer clears the bar.

Tennis Squad Faces Rough, Challenging Season

The tennis team of New Hanover High opened its season in December with tryouts and practice starting shortly after Christmas. With a backbone of three returning seniors, the 'Cats worked hard to prepare themselves for the first game in a rough lineup of teams. Starting with Kinston in late March, the Wilmington courtsmen met such teams as Wilson, Raleigh Broughton, Fayetteville, Raleigh-Enloe, Goldsboro, and Rocky Mount, along with the South Carolina squads of Charleston and Myrtle Beach. The New Hanover team also held a match with the freshmen of the University of North Carolina. The completion of the season was marked by the sectional contest and finally by the state playoffs.

A match in high school competition consists of six singles matches, which pit one man against another, and three doubles matches, in which two squad members team up to play. To win a match, the player must win two out of three sets, each set consisting of six games. The winner of a match is awarded one point and the team with the most points wins the meet.

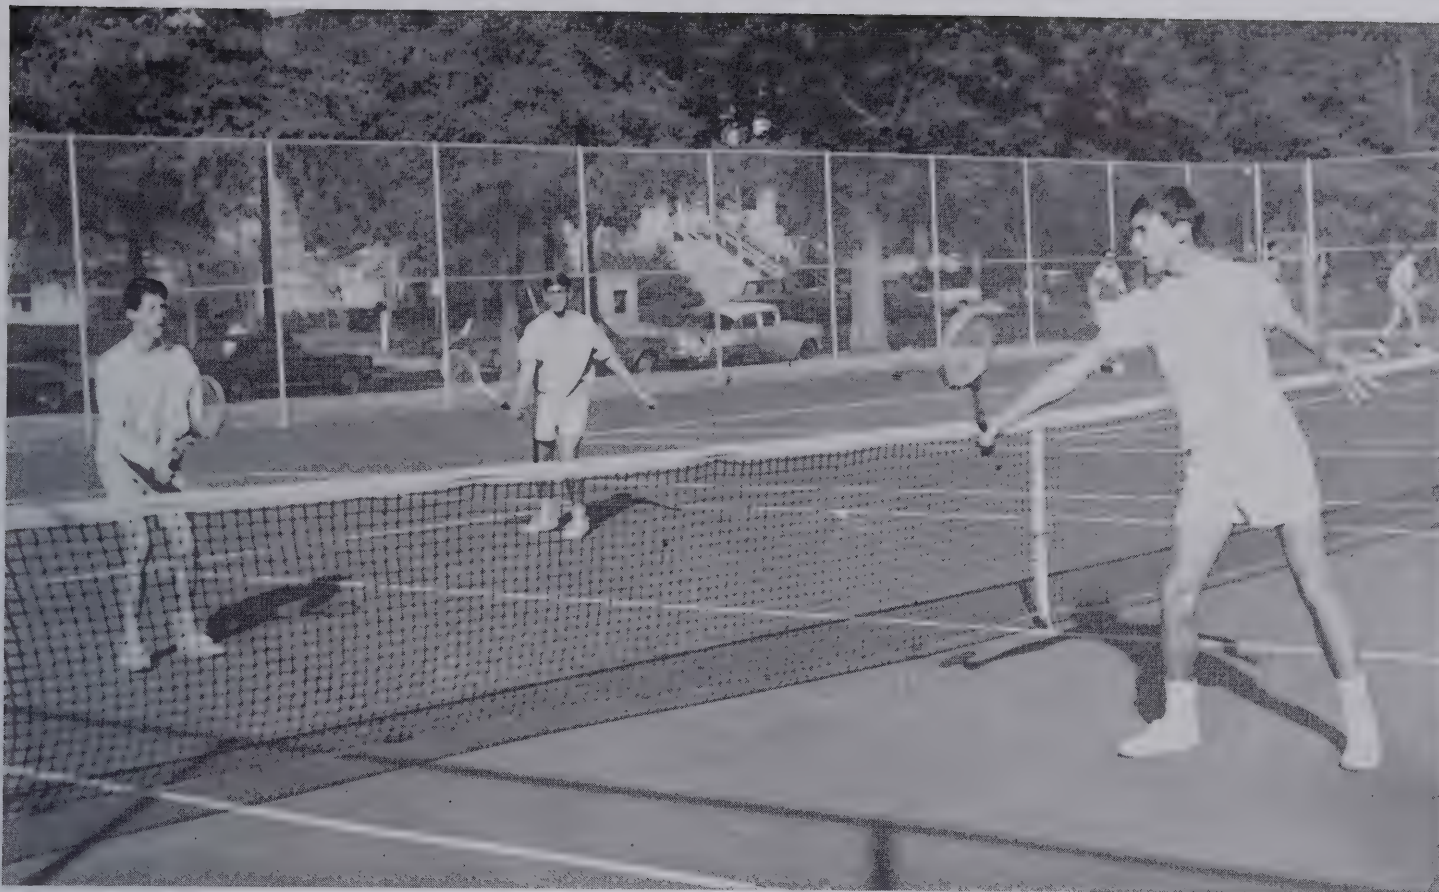

Serving, an important part of the game of tennis, requires hours of practice, before the correct form can be found as demonstrated by David Elebash.

Instructor Group

This year the Army instructor group contained several new faces. Senior Army Instructor Major Clyde A. Harrison arrived this summer from Korea to replace Captain D. C. Green. A new MT-I instructor SSG James Mauldin, arrived during the first semester to replace Viet Nam bound SSG James Duffey. SFC Ray Calvert, who taught second year cadets in the early fall, returned to Viet Nam in October. This December SFC Fred J. Hall retired during an impressive ceremony after twenty years of service. SSG Leon E. Walker continued his duties as administrative NCO. ROTC instructor group, with its parade of new faces this year, insured the success of the thirtieth ROTC year at New Hanover.

Battalion Headquarters

Battalion Headquarters consists of the Battalion Commander, Battalion Sponsor, Executive Officer, and four staff sections. The Battalion Commander was Cadet Lt. Colonel John T. Mavros, and Honorary Cadet Lt. Colonel Mary Edna Lockfaw served as Battalion Sponsor. Battalion Executive Officer was Cadet Major James H. Laughlin. Duties of the S1, Cadet Captain Robert L. Simpson, included making the weekly report and responsibility for the cadet judicial marshal system. Publications, cadet bulletin boards, and public relations were the responsibility of the S2, Cadet Captain George Sloan. The S3, Cadet Captain James R. Davis, set up the field for formations, held Distinguished Cadet formations, and issued awards. Cadet Captain Jeffery W. Phillips, S4, managed the supply room and armory. Battalion Headquarters was largely responsible for the smoothness with which the battalion ran this year.

Established here in 1937, ROTC has long been the pride of New Hanover. Over the years thousands of cadets have emerged from the program as capable, experienced, and trusted leaders in the school and community. Through ROTC training, the unit motto, "Learn today, lead tomorrow," becomes a reality.

In the fall the first-year cadet, bewildered and unsure of himself, feels lost in a maze of khaki, Brasso, and spit-shined shoes. He spends long hours cleaning "that old M-1" and studying his

A cadet's performance may earn him a leadership position during his second year. Now the tide is beginning to turn—instead of taking all the orders, he is beginning to give a few. This new role as an NCO gives him a deeper pride in himself and greater confidence in his ability.

A primary activity of the club this year was sponsorship of the formal military ball in December. The Student Union became New Hanover's Bourbon Street, with an authentic Mardi Gras atmosphere. Entertainment furnished by the popular "Soul Six" and lots of good food and drink made for a successful evening. Also the Officers Club held a midnight breakfast after the ball for all MT-III cadets and dates.

Cape Fear Rifles

This year the Cape Fear Rifles participated in the impressive flag-raising ceremonies held on the school lawn each Monday and Friday. The twenty-four man precision drill team performed in parades at Wallace, Rose Hill, Burgaw, and Warsaw, in addition to the Cherry Blossom Festival Parade at Washington, D. C. Major activities for the year included the Third Annual Drill Team Meet at Macon, Georgia, and participation in the Third Army Junior ROTC Drill Team Competition in Savannah, Georgia.

This year the rifle team commander was Cadet Major James H. Laughlin and the sponsor was Honorary Cadet Major Paula Jackson. Coached by SSG James Mauldin, the team met every weekday at 3:30. During these meetings the team practiced, held interteam matches, and received physical training. Besides hosting the Carolina Military Academy, Savannah, and Oak Ridge teams here, the team fired in matches in such varied places as Maxton and Oak Ridge, North Carolina; Savannah, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Counterinsurgency Platoon

Counterinsurgency Platoon was a new addition to ROTC this year by the army to keep the ROTC program in step with world affairs. The commander was Cadet Major Woodrow W. Bradshaw; Executive Officer, Cadet Captain Don W. Norris. SSG James Mauldin served as advisor to the group.

Training sessions, designed to drop cadets who were not able to meet its standards or who failed to take the program seriously, began the CI's year. With this goal accomplished, CI began meeting on Wednesday afternoons for physical, first aid, weapons, and tactics instruction. One Sunday each month the group trained with the National Guard Special Forces Team.

The NCO club formed this year to give the noncommissioned officers of the battalion an opportunity to meet socially. They held meetings weekly at seventh period, during which the group planned various co-ed activities for the unit. After ROTC Night the club sponsored a social in the Student Union; the "Wild Ones," a group composed of several club members, furnished the entertainment.

Talking over their lesson plans for the day are Mr. William Mangum, Algebra II, Geometry; Mr. William King, Algebra I and Algebra II; Mr. Eston Brinkley, Algebra I and II; and Mrs. Dianna Morrissey, Algebra I.

Mr. James Pigford, Head of Math Department, Algebra II, Advanced Algebra, Advanced Math, prepares to use his favorite lesson aid.

Mathematics books this year include such sentences as this: "By restricting the range of each inverse circular relation, you obtain a principal inverse relation, with domain D and range R as shown."

It is but one of the many sentences which bring groans of agony and looks of despair from the math students at New Hanover High School.

Modern mathematics is finding its way into all math courses. North Carolina has adopted textbooks that contain new up-to-date material on modern math.

Many classes use the new textbooks along with the old to aid in the change from conventional mathematics.

Mathematics Department offers such courses as Consumer Math, Algebra I and II, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, Trigonometry, and Advanced Math. Two years of algebra and one of geometry are required for a college preparatory diploma.

Advanced Mathematics, the highest math offered at NHHS, is taught to one hundred thirty-five students and is the only math course that may be taken for a semester or for a full year.

New to the department this year are five teachers: Mrs. Nancy Horton, Mrs. Dianna Morrissey, and Messrs. David Green, Philip Jorgensen, and Eston Brinkley.

Mr. Philip Jorgensen, Consumer Math, and Mr. David Green, Consumer Math, Math, III, take a few minutes out to talk before beginning class.

Miss Eloise Scott, Algebra I, Advanced Algebra, Trigonometry, Mrs. Nancy Horton, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, Trigonometry, and Mrs. Josephine Sapp, Geometry, discuss the new math on their way to lunch.

Biology teachers Mrs. Nancy Lee, Mr. Donald Dickens, and Miss Ethelyn Gaskin relax after a day of helping students with lab work.

Mrs. Mozelle Smith, Biology, Advanced Biology, and Mrs. Emily Laughlin, Advanced Biology, smile over the results of an experiment conducted by Mr. Clifford's classes in Physical Science and Physics.

Science courses play a vital role in the education of most students at NHHS. By increased laboratory work and investigations, ambitious young scientists learn much through many of nature's mysteries.

Recent additions to the faculty of this department include Mr. Thomas Tuttle and Miss Ethelyn Gaskin, who are biology instructors. A new biology lab provides needed working space, new equipment, and additional shelves for supplementary books and materials.

Overhead projectors, automatic burettes, and an analytical balance are part of new equipment obtained by the Chemistry Department. A new method of team teaching is being used for the first time. As one teacher introduces an area of study—such as, the quantum or kinetic theory, another instructor conducts an experiment to demonstrate that principle. This combination of lecture and experiment teaches students to observe and explain phenomena independently.

Physics students are not always confined to classroom study about electricity or nuclear fission. One field trip took students on a tour of the Advance II, a ship owned and operated by the Cape Fear Technical Institute and used for scientific study and research.

Mrs. Shirley Davis, Physical Science, and Mr. Thomas Tuttle, Physical Science, Biology, discuss the progress of a student they have taught.

Mrs. Dell Borneman, Head of Science Department, Advanced Biology, looks through one of the new science books in the library.

Mrs. Kathryn Emmart, Chemistry, works with the Hoffman apparatus while Mrs. Estelle LeGwin, Chemistry, begins an experiment with the automatic burette.

The Business Department teaches students such varied courses as typing, business math, bookkeeping, business education, and shorthand, including in these the handling and manipulation of office machinery.

New duplicating machines, key punch simulators, key driven rotary calculators, electric typewriters, and other machinery have been acquired this year to supplement the equipment of this department. The new machines, essential in the various fields of business, total four thousand dollars' worth of equipment. Educational programs received by two newly obtained televisions correlate classwork with new methods broadcasted from Hemenway Hall.

Distributive Education and Industrial Cooperative Training

are efforts by the high school, business, and industry to provide on-the-job training for high school juniors and seniors in occupational areas of their choice.

They improve the quality of the schoolwork for the average participant because they increase the student's understanding of the practical reasons for completing high school education while obtaining vocational training.

The Distributive Education program prepares students for positions—such as, salespeople or people in direct contact with the public; while the Industrial Cooperative Training program instructs students for positions in skilled technical fields. These programs may be a rewarding experience for every participant by helping him develop himself and find his place as a productive and responsible member of the community. A total of about seventy-five students are now enrolled.

Mrs. Taylor, DE, and Mr. Farmer, DE, discuss available occupations.

Coach Brogden, head of physical education, inspects the new tennis courts.

Mrs. Jean Tillitt, physical education, helps erect a volleyball net for a Girls' Athletic Association game.

Coach Fennell, physical education, and Coach Davis, physical education, discuss an attendance record to be turned in to the office.

Sports Department's facilities boast the addition of five new tennis courts and new field and track equipment. This year for the first time physical education classes are able to include tennis on campus in their program. Five new red and green tennis courts, located opposite the main building in the old Pembroke Jones Park, were completed at the end of November. Also, for the first time since the late 1930's, track—coached by Frank Farrow and Tom Clark—is able to include spring track, consisting of fourteen events: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdle, 180-yard low hurdle, 880-yard run, one and two mile runs, 880-yard and one mile relays, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put, and discus throw. Physical education classes are an attempt to develop skills in certain sports. For boys these include basketball, tennis, handball, table tennis, and volleyball; and for the girls basketball, softball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, table tennis, and limited gymnastics. Boys, who make up three-fifths of the five hundred students in this department, also take up first aid.

Mrs. Mae High, Drama and Speech, critically views final rehearsals for Cheaper by the Dozen.

Drama Students, through public speaking and dramatics, learn to express themselves vividly and concisely. Practical experience is gained through original writings and their presentation to various groups.

Speech students learn that voice tone, inflection, and modulation, as well as appearance affect their ability to communicate coherently with the audience.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mae High, the Thespians of New Hanover, a school organization for interested dramatic students, successfully produced "Cheaper by the Dozen." In the District Drama Contest held at Campbell College, the drama students enacted a one-act play, Finders-Keepers by George Kelly, and received a rating of excellent for a well-balanced stage picture and vocal projection. The cast consisted entirely of high school students.

Vocal Music Classes, headed by Mr. Bob Alexander, includes one hundred student singers. These pupils perform in concerts for local clubs and organizations, television shows, and the student body. The district contests, which are held annually, is a greatly anticipated event for the singers.

Rhesa Reagan receives several pointers from Mr. Bob Alexander, Music, Hanover Singers, moments before concert time.

Band Students learn the necessity for each member to assume the responsibility for his own part. Mr. William A. McAdams directs the one hundred fifteen-member student band. Seasonal concerts and dances help to raise money for supporting the group's various functions.

Mr. William McAdams, Music Theory, Band, ROTC Band, directs an afternoon band practice.

Head of Home Economics Department, Mrs. Shirley Glover explains the proper way of serving to Mrs. Laura Sewell, Home Economics, and Mrs. Rebecca McCowan, Home Economics II, Foods and Clothing.

Home Economics is the guide to family living. Through its daily study, one hundred eighty girls discover that making a happy home is the science and the art for which they were created. Supervised by Mrs. Shirley Glover, Mrs. Laura Sewell and Mrs. Rebecca McCowan, these future homemakers realize their duties must range from parent and teacher to chef, seamstress, and interior decorator. Skills are taught and talents developed while the students actively participate in cooking and food-planning, sewing, family relations, and child care.

Art students, numbering one hundred twenty-eight, create exhibit projects in the main lobby showcase, the Industrial Building window, and in the annual Christmas lawn scene. With only a canvas, Christmas lawn scene. With only a canvas, a brush, and oils of various colors, there emerges a lasting impression of beauty. Supervised by Miss Moneen Keklak, these talented young artists shape the exceptional from paper mache, clay, and plastics. For the first time the Art Department of New Hanover sponsored an Art exhibit in Brogden Hall. Canvas portraits, charcoal sketches, and clay figurines depicted scenes varying from serene moments in Nature to graceful ballet and classic dancers. For five days these student displays attracted art lovers before and after school and during lunch periods.

Miss Moneen Keklak, Art I, II, III, evaluates a student's work for originality and accurate portrayal of the subject.

Brisk mornings find Mrs. Lucie Fryar, French I, Latin I, II; and Mrs. Ida Mintz, Latin I, II, Personal Typing, chatting on their way to school.

Miss Judy Callaway, Spanish II; Mr. Frank Farrow, Spanish II, III; and Mr. Walter Bulla, English II, Spanish II, watch as Miss Catherine O'Brien, Spanish I, II, swings at the festive Piñata.

Mrs. Elizabeth West, French II, III, and Miss Elizabeth Boles, English II, III, French I, converse over the French Club's float in the annual Homecoming Parade.

Language Arts teachers, nine in number, conduct forty classes each school day, reaching approximately 1,400 students. Spanish classes outnumber both the Latin and French classes together by four. "Man from La Mancha," a story of Don Quixote's escapades put to music, parallels entertainment and learning for Spanish students. Translating the play "When Clouds Exchange Their Noses" gives these students another approach to understanding the Spanish language. On the twenty-seventh of July, five students begin the first leg of their journey from New York City to London. Tours, France, is their destination. Four weeks are devoted to classroom studies in French with side trips to Spain and Paris to highlight their tour. Vale Traineau, "Jingle Bells," is one of the songs sung to spread Christmas cheer in French I classes. Not to be outdone in the holiday spirit, Spanish classes faithfully carry out the Yuletide tradition of smashing the piñata. This year three new members joined the language arts department—Miss Kitty O'Brien, Mrs. Lucie Fryar, and Miss Linda Jones.

The true Spanish spirit invades the classroom.

Mrs. Maynard, Head of the Language Arts Department, recalls teaching English as a foreign language for eleven years in Central America.

Mr. William Bergeron, Head of the Social Studies Department, adjusts the question-answer sheet for his next class.

Social Studies Department

apportions some 2,215 students to its seventeen member staff.

Analyzing the communistic theory and stance in the world situation results in well-informed government students. Group dynamics—term applied to studying a subject by summarizing its overall aspect—is still in the experimental stage.

Sociology students by viewing films on marriages and divorces, by giving five minute talks on qualities involved with the choosing of mates, and by preparing research papers on relevant subjects end their semester course more aware of society and its function.

Each six weeks U. S. History students present three minute floor talks based on any subject discussed in class.

Another semester course, Economics, acquaints students with the value of money in the American economy. Conflicting opinions arise over the effect of supply and demand upon today's major headache, inflation. Each student must be able to read the stock exchange reports and write up a ten-page economic review of any country.

Using material in addition to the classroom text, the social studies student assumes responsibility of discovering truths for himself.

"Are there any further questions pertaining to the procedures of the Republican and Democratic national convention?" inquires Mr. Hardee.

Mr. Stephen Preston, U. S. History, English; Mr. William Hardee, Government; Miss Susan Bissette, U. S. History, English; and Col. William Logan, Economics, Sociology, spot trouble areas where U. S. intervention was needed.

Mr. Kenneth Wooten, U. S. History, Mr. George Hardee, U. S. History, and Mr. Newland Crocker, World History, U. S. History, congregate in the hall before the 8:30 bell.

Pausing in front of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Miss Frances Smith, Government, Economics, and Mr. Joel Cleland, Government, Economics, view the morning traffic rush on Seventeenth and Market.

Mr. Richard L. Feagin, U. S. History; Mrs. Shirley Keister, Government; Mr. James T. Meadows, Sociology, U. S. History; and Mrs. Ruth Warren, Government, go over various articles in Senior Scholastic.

Mr. Neil Stout, U. S. History, and Mrs. Jean T. Doorley, U. S. History, gaze over at the activities in the Student Union.

Miss Ruth Spence, Bible I, II, III, relates her trip to the Holy Land through slides.

Bible Students for an hour each day, vicariously journey to the Holy Land. Through the efforts of the Wilmington Churches and under the guidance of Miss Ruth Spence, Bible instructor, these pupils study the Bible for its implied as well as factual meaning. Students seek to discover the secrets of life by philosophy and worship, taking their text from the Bible. Members of the Bible Club annually participate in the Bible Retreat for all high schools in the local area. Another annual activity is the presentation of the Billy Halyburton Award to an outstanding Christian student. Morning devotions are held by the Bible students on weekdays for all interested students for a half hour each morning.

The Library, now almost double in size and in number of books, attracts a variety of students for research as well as enjoyment.

Three librarians along with thirty student assistants work to keep the library orderly and ready for use.

Librarians, Mrs. Dorothy Norris, Mrs. Martha Boone, and Miss Fannie O'Keef, alphabetize reference books in preparation for the days' frantic researchers.

Miss Frances Formy-Duval, Head of English Department, English IV, entertains a class with a recording from Hamlet.

In an English Department supplementary library Miss Sophie Arledge, English II, III, and Mrs. Margaret Wilson, English II, III, spend extra time perusing magazines and newspapers.

English classes are experimenting this year in the use of new study methods. Two ungraded classes and one group set up for individual study are among the 1967 innovations.

Tested in only a handful of schools throughout the country, independent study is challenging approximately twenty New Hanover seniors. No class attendance is required in the program, but seminars and regular conferences with instructors direct participants' studies. Each student reads extensively on a literary subject which he chooses. Keeping weekly records, he makes observations which he channels into a research paper.

Two classes of American literature do not receive six-weeks' grades. Instead, instructors evaluate the student's progress at the middle and the end of the year.

Miss Phyllis Shaw, English II, III, and Mrs. Margaret Means, English (ESEA), Social Studies, accept an invitation to tour a trailer classroom with Mrs. Betty Clark, Reading Improvement.

Mrs. Helen Younger, English II, and Mr. Eugene Bray, English II, enter Brogden Hall for a special assembly.

Mr. Richard Henderson, English II, instructs Mr. Frank Davenport, English II, III, on the best method for serving.

Mrs. Mildred Modlin, English III, Journalism I, II, coordinates Wildcat subscriptions while Miss Helen Dobson, English II, Journalism III, World History, reviews a recent HANOVERIAN.

Mr. James Potter, English III, runs through a scene from Cheaper by the Dozen with Mrs. Diane Burton, English IV.

In the library Miss Ruth Skinner, English IV, Sociology, prepares a vocabulary list with Mrs. Elizabeth Lane, English III, IV.

Mr. Doug Cochrane, English II, IV, and Mr. Junius Stearns, preach to Julius Caesar.

Miss Martha Hamilton, English II, and Mrs. Bonnie Daniel, English II, III, check their mail in the office.

English II, plan a new classroom ap-

Mrs. Eugenia Jones, English III, compares a literature poster from her classes with one made by a student of Miss Helen Blanks, English III.

Block study of literature and history relates subject matter through correlated topics and projects in American, English, and world cultures. Another new approach is the study of literature dealing with similar concepts instead of the traditional chronological development. Research papers for seniors are no longer limited to literary subjects: they may discuss occupational fields or interests.

A supplementary library in the bookroom supplies Greek drama, Shakespearean plays, modern short stories, selected non-fiction, and a variety of novels. Closed circuit television is available for the first time this year in English classes. In the library, accessible to all students, are albums and films, which provide enjoyment and encourage students to develop their own interpretive skills.

Miss Katherine Wicker, English IV, and Mrs. Margaret Geary, English IV, U. S. History, confer with student Mike Padrick, who is working in independent study.

Trades courses combine study and practical work to increase each student's particular skills. Courses employing latest mechanical devices emphasize quality in production.

A two-year program initiated this year will enlarge the department's supply of equipment and machinery. Instructors hope to add several courses to the curriculum next year when present facilities will expand.

Architectural drafting, being taught for the first time this year, makes two years of study in drafting available to students.

These two electives in mechanical drawing are the most popular in the trades field because they are useful to prospective engineers and architects.

Another widely studied course is electronics, also offering two years of study. In this course students design and build equipment—such as, receivers, transmitters, and amplifiers.

In addition to specialized studies in individual fields, the department offers basic subjects which lead to a trades diploma.

Mr. Robert Pennington, Machine Shop, and Mr. Joseph Wood, Electronics I, II, talk with Mr. James Gearhart, Vocational Director, before leaving school on Friday afternoon.

Mr. George Garrett, Mechanical Drawing I, Mr. David Stillman, Mechanical Drawing I, II, Mr. Frank Kovacs, Metals Industry; and Mr. Justin Kornegay, Carpentry I, II, study a diagram of a metal cylinder.

Mr. Clifton Long, Internal Combustion Engines, and Mr. Ronnie Pickler, Basic Electricity, Shop Math, tune up the engine of a student's car.

Mr. Rex Hardy explains to Jo Morton her driving time and her mileage.

Driver's Education teaches students safe driving habits and the road laws of North Carolina. Mr. Rex Hardy, in charge of Driver's Education, teaches about ninety-five students in his classes. During the first semester students receive thirty-six hours of instruction in the car. The students drive twenty minutes and observe forty minutes a day for a period of twenty days.

Discussions of the car, its operation, road laws, and driving hazards and how to handle them take up most of the class time. This year many of the new safety features, such as the four-way flasher and the energy absorbing steering column, were explained. Tests are given on these subjects, and an exam is given at the end of the year.

A Driver's Education student, preparing to turn onto 16th Street, gives a right turn signal.

Sophomores are eager yet unsure, mature yet ever growing, curious yet trapped in a maze of details and tests as they enter their first year of senior high. Here they learn to form their own ideas. Participation in student government, the Twirp Dance, first exams, and the introduction to high school athletics aid in the development of their individuality. New friends and new interests evolve from the daily routine which they follow. This is the proving ground. During the course of the year, sophomores must gain the respect, and perhaps the recognition, of their friends and teachers. Often they face confusion and loneliness, but just as often find friends and happiness. This is a year of growth. The sophomore learns to accept responsibility in preparation for that next longed-for Junior year.

Junior officers—Eddie Lockamy, vice-president; Dru Farrar, secretary; and Tommy Pollard, president—lead class activities with enthusiasm and pride.

Juniors, ranked middle in importance, often show the utmost in school spirit and participation. No longer bewildered at the immensity and confusion of the campus, juniors clamor to take their rightful places in student activities. These students continually invest all their energies in a variety of club activities, student government programs, and invariable homework assignments to meet deadline after deadline. Floating among all of them as reminders of an unusually eventful and gratifying year are the haunts of the junior-senior, class rings, and Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests. The junior year, truly a rewarding one, makes every important event a milestone in the lives of its classmen. To those who seek its rewards, the National Honor Society is an added incentive. Looking back, juniors recall fond memories and look eagerly toward the esteem of being a senior.

Seen exiting Brogden Hall together are senior class officers Beth Grant, secretary; Ike Puzon, president; and Bobby Collins, vice-president.

Seniors recall former years as they walk on stage graduation night. Visions of happy experiences, dim remembrances of sad ones, first impressions of high school, and plans for the future are the climatic peak of three never-to-be forgotten years.

Everyday happenings now become more significant to a senior as he prepares to graduate.

The words of the Alma Mater take on new meaning, and tears appear in the eyes of one who is singing it for the last time . . .

"The years will find us loyal to you,
New Hanover High."

Yet, seniors breathe sighs of relief as final decisions for college formulated, SAT scores return, and the last exam goes in.

Graduation invitations are finally addressed and mailed as that June night draws near. This senior year has meant different things to different people.

For some, it was the last encounter with formal education; for others, 1967 is the threshold to higher learning and wider opportunities.

*"For yesterday is but a dream,
And tomorrow is only a vision.
But today well lived makes every yesterday
A dream of happiness,
And tomorrow a vision of hope."*

*An air of calm
Lies beneath the turbulence.
Power remains
Even though the droplets
Scatter in explosive bursts.
There is always
Replenishment, Rebuilding.*

*Flood tide forever follows
Its ebb.*
